City Hall shut for holidays

City employees will get two days off, beginning Thursday for the New Year Holidays.

Residents and citizens who have business with City Hall are urged to get the work out of the way before 5:30 p.m. today.

City employees are scheduled to return to work on Monday, Jan. 4.

Union, city set talks

James Markley, business representative of Teamster Local 214, appeared before City Council last week and asked council members if negotiating teams from both sides couldn't meet to discuss the factfinder's report.

Markley and Local 214 represents some 75 Romulus city clerical and DPW employees who have been without a contract since July 1, 1980 when the old agreement with the city expired.

The city and the Teamsters have been unsuccessfully negotiating the terms of the new contract and a state mediator was called in in hopes of breaking the impasse.

Police seek armed robber

Romulus police are searching for an armed robber who held up the Total Gas Station, 7084 Wayne Rd., Monday night and escaped with approximately $250 in cash.

Police said that the gunman walked into the station around 6 p.m. while an employee was about to place the day's receipts into a drop floor vault. The robber said: "I'll take that", then produced a blue steel revolver to back up his demands for the cash.

The robber, described as a black male, about 165-pounds, in his early 20s, made his getaway on foot. The victim said he didn't see a getaway vehicle.

Introducing Frostie

Three-year-old Timothy Metchall, of 9509 Essex, came up with his own version of Frostie the Snowman and with all the snow this area is enjoying it doesn't appear that Frostie will disappear for a long time. Is that the reason why Timmy has put that huge grin on his snowman's face?

Super Sewer or super dud?

Is the "super sewer", a super dud?

Many of the area and local city and township officials are beginning to think so. The sewer, originally proposed almost 10 years ago to help southern Wayne County solve some of its sewerage disposal problems remains on the drawing boards.

When, and if, finished the "super sewer" will service the townships of Van Buren, Sumpter, Huron, Canton along with the cities of Belleville and Romulus.

One outspoken critic of the sewer is Canton Township trustee Stephen Larson who believes that the cost to the taxpayers far outweighs the service they will receive.

According to Duane R. Egeland, deputy manager of the Wayne County Public Works board, the plans for the construction of the super sewer are on schedule and "we are optimistic that by June of 1982 we will begin construction."

The sewer, when finished, will transport waste water to a new sewage treatment plant scheduled to be constructed at the mouth of the Huron River. Officials estimate that the cost to construct such an intricate network of sewers is about $250 million, and, if delayed and with inflation, could reach $500 million before completed.

No completion date is offered. One thing all officials agree upon is that the huge construction project translates into jobs for thousands of persons in hard-hit Michigan. It is one reason why they believe that the Reagan Administration won't shelve the project. Also, federal and state environmental officials also are optimistic that money will be made available and have informed local officials "that the sewer system is at the top of the priority list."

Recently, Congress put its stamp of approval to a $2.4 billion appropriation to underwrite pollution-control projects nationally such as the one proposed for the area.

But the key to the construction will be the local municipalities who will have to foot their share of the construction costs.

And many of them are not willing to discuss a project that could arouse the taxpayer's wrath at present.

Deputies dream of overtime

Stalled by pending negotiations both at the state level and with County Road Commission, it appears unrealistic for Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies to hope for tentative overtime pay until after the first of the coming new year.

Payment of the overtime was first anticipated by Dec. 15, a wish shared by the deputies represented in AFSCME Local 502 (American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees) as well as the County Board of Commissioners according to an agreement between them reached on Nov. 19.

In a meeting last week the Board appropriated nearly $1.8 million for overtime pay for up to September this year, but already there are too few working days to process payment before Jan. 1, 1982, said Board Vice-Chairman Clemens E. Bykowski. The unresolved matters at the State and Road Commission levels must be finalized and put into written contracts before the County financial machinery begins processing for payment.

Payment of the overtime, a matter disputed in and out of court for most of this year was tentative and contingent upon separate agreements to be negotiated for resumption of some level of discontinued security at metro airport and a secondary road patrol function. Both questions are still under discussion.

Also Bykowski pointed out, there are only six working days left for County employees before the first of the year. Contracts of the type contemplated would require agreement among State officials, the Road Commission, County Attorneys and County auditors.

Council to resume cable franchise debate

Romulus City Council will tackle one of its most controversial issues when it meets for its inaugural session of the New Year.

Councilman Alan Lambert has asked that the cable TV issue be placed on the agenda for council discussion at the Tues. Jan. 5 meeting. It will be the third time in less than two months that council will attempt to break the deadlock of awarding the franchise.

"I feel that there will be some movement toward ending the deadlock," said City Clerk Ray Cantrell. "Mr. Lambert asked for the item (cable TV) to be placed on the agenda."

Three firms — Comcast Cablevision, Omnicom of Plymouth, and Barden Cablevision — are seeking the local franchise and the right to build the system.

Although Comcast has come close to getting the franchise — it has fallen short by one vote on two previous occasions — none of the councilmen would speculate how the vote would go the third time around.

Both times Comcast had secured four of the seven council votes. However, according to the Romulus City Charter, in order for a motion or resolution to receive ordinance status, five votes are needed.

Cullin asks FBI, Attorney General inquiry on Debs case

Emphasizing that the township and her office had an obligation and responsibility to the citizens, as well as to the newly-appointed police commander, "to clear the air once and for all" Van Buren Township Supervisor Patricia Cullin today has requested the Attorney General and the FBI to step in and thoroughly examine any and all allegations against Richard Debs and bring back to the board their findings.

"The indelible mark that the press has left upon Mr. Debs' reputation has incited ill will in this community, and it is not fair for the press to continue this insidious attack upon his name and his family," Mrs. Cullin stressed during a special meeting yesterday.

"I believe the Attorney General and the FBI can investigate and separate fact from hearsay and will put to rest, once and for all, all of these innuendoes," said Mrs. Cullin.

Debs, 44, last month was appointed by the township board to a newly-created position of police commander, although he had no formal training as a police officer.

Mrs. Cullin explained that "almost all of our recruits come to us without any formal police training. The police officer's job in this township is part-time."

"And a professional career police officer isn't going to stick around here for $5.35 an hour without fringes," Mrs. Cullin continued. "Most qualified police officers who come here usually are out of a job and ask for employment to preserve their certification, but then must move on to full-time police employment to be able to support their family. Our officers normally work 20 to 24 hours per week and couldn't even support themselves on that kind of money."

Debs is presently employed full-time as president of the UAW Local 1776 in Ypsilanti.

Although Debs has had brushes with the law in the past, he says that the incidents were "set up" by police who had grudges against him.

"I have never been convicted of anything," Debs said, "and I have always tried to do what I felt was right."

Mrs. Cullin said that the law enforcement agencies will determine whether Debs is a victim of circumstances.

"I believe a man is innocent until proven otherwise," said Mrs. Cullin. "The newspapers have dragged this thing on long enough. If Mr. Debs has done anything illegal, we would immediately ask for his resignation."

However, if he hasn't, then — like everyone else — his job performance should determine whether he keeps or loses his job. Not his past."

Trustee Fred Domen made a motion to suspend Debs, with pay, until the investigation was completed. However, police officers assembled at the special meeting urged the township officials to reject the motion.

PATRICIA CULLIN

The officers said that "morale in the department was high and dismissing Debs at this time would have a detrimental effect on the department."

Deadline is today for local taxes

If you want to credit your county, state and school taxes towards your 1981 federal taxes, you have until Wednesday (Dec. 29) to pay.

That's the word from City Clerk Ray Cantrell who said that his department will close the books on 1981 at 5:30 p.m. today because City Hall will be closed for the final two days of the year.

"Although residents can pay their local taxes without penalty next year," Cantrell continued, "if you want to credit the taxes toward your federal income tax returns, you must pay your local taxes now."

Respite holiday style

The interior and grounds of the Rose Kennedy Respite Center reflects the charm of the Christmas holidays, thanks to the work of the Tri-City Junior Civitan Club. Members gathered at the Center in Westland on Dec. 7 to put the finishing touches on their annual Christmas project. This is the second year the club has teamed up with its adult counter, the Westland Civitans, to decorate the respite center. Showing off some of the exterior decorations they erected are club president Dan Booth

(from left), Edie Kurtz-Mills, treasurer and Adeline McCusker, Westland Civitan advisor. The club is a community service organization for junior and senior high school students. Its projects range from the annual Special Olympics to aiding senior citizens. The group meets on the first and third Wednesdays of the month at 7 p.m. at Hamilton Elementary School, located at Schuman and Avondale in Westland.

At Woodland Meadows

Injunction clears way for landfill expansion

It appears the Woodland Meadows Landfill on Hannan Road will be able to expand, following an injunction issued by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Charles Farmer Dec. 11.

That preliminary injunction will be appealed, however, to the Michigan Court of Appeals by Canton Township, the City of Wayne and Sunrise Development Corp., an Ohio-based firm that owns property located near the landfill in Van Buren Township.

The injunction enjoined the township from hindering in the 105-acre expansion of the landfill. The ruling stunned township attorney David Berry, who said the township would appeal to the higher court on an emergency application for leave to appeal.

Berry said the judge's ruling appeared not to have taken into consideration several factors he brought up in the court hearing. However, he believes the appellate court "will take this opportunity to clarify what the State Legislature intended when it adopted Act 641 to control solid waste disposal sites."

Michigan Waste Systems, the parent company and operator of Woodland Meadows, filed a lawsuit on Oct. 30, after the Township Board of Trustees, based on a recommendation from the Planning Commission, denied expansion of the facility. The rejection was based on the fact that the landfill's application did not meet the conditions set forth in the township ordinance pertaining to landfills.

Ray Kellas, manager of Michigan Waste Systems, in a letter to Canton Township Supervisor Jim Poole several months ago said the application had been approved by the State Department of Natural Resources, pointing out that state law supercedes local ordinances.

Attorney David Fink, representing Michigan Waste Systems, said the judge's ruling prohibits the township from interfering with construction of the landfill expansion.

"We have advised our client that under the present preliminary injunction, they can begin construction," Fink said. He added that he didn't know if they would begin construction now because winter is not conducive to working on the soil.

Berry was surprised at the suddenness of the judge's decision, saying there is no need for the landfill for the next five years.

"There are two aspects to this case that need to be recognized," Berry said. "First, the judge gave the injunction despite the fact that the landfill developer has capacity in his existing landfill for two years. Secondly, applications filed with the DNR by the developer state that it will take only three to eight months to complete the landfill expansion."

"So what's the hurry to rush this important decision?" Berry asked.

Berry pointed out that the DNR regulations deal with the hydro-geologic issues in connection with approval of a particular site for landfill for solid waste management. He said a planning committee has been appointed to assist Wayne County Planning Commission to plan where the landfills are located. The planning committee, made up of local elected officials and citizens of various cities and townships in Wayne County, help the Wayne County Planning Commission create a plan to locate landfills.

That plan is still far from being completed.

"Absent that plan, if the localities are pre-empted by Act 641 from enforcing their zoning ordinances, there will be no regulations of the locations where the landfills are placed," Berry said. "If Judge Farmer is correct in his belief that Act 641 pre-empt all local ordinances on and after the effective date of the act (Jan. 11, 1979), then between the effective date and the adoption of the plan, there would be no regulation of locational aspects of solid waste disposal facilities."

Berry said that once the plan is in place that all conflicting local ordinances will be pre-empted.

Berry said that in light of the fact there is yet no plan for locating landfills, the judge's ruling seems hasty.

"That, it seems to me to be unbelievable, incongruous and just doesn't make sense."

Berry claims the DNR in its regulations under Act 641 has not dealt with the local land use issues, such as how many houses are located by a proposed landfill, are there better locations and how many are needed in Wayne County.

He said that once the present 97-acre Woodland Meadows landfill is filled in two years it will not be good for anything except recreational land, "that means lost taxes for Canton Township."

The staff of the planning committee assisting the Wayne County Planning Commission completed a study recently that shows present landfills in the county have capacity to handle all of the county's solid waste for the next five years.

"There's no emergency in Wayne County for sites to dispose of solid waste," Berry said in emphasizing his dismay over what he feels is a hasty decision.

Wayne City Attorney John McKinney, who is representing the city in the appeals' process said the court had "ignored the home rule right of municipalities" in its decision.

"Cities are going to have to defend their home rule rights in a number of areas," he said.

Scouts, seniors and songs

There was a mixture of Christmas carols, excellent food, and pleasant chatting when the girls from P.D. Graham Elementary School Visited Dion's Convalescent Home in Canton last week for the annual Christmas Party. The girls (above) presented a Christmas caroling program that included a "sing-along" in which the seniors joined in. "I feel that it was one of the more pleasant surprises of the year," said a convalescent home official. "The seniors loved it as I'm sure that the kids did, too."

Silent Night

Senior citizens at the Dion's Convalescent Home received a Christmas holiday treat when the Girl Scouts and Brownies from Graham Elementary School showed up to entertain them. The program, sponsored by Bob Card of McDonald's Restaurant in Canton, included Christmas Carols, refreshments and a pleasant chat between young and old. The girls are members of Troop 480 Brownies, and 119, 86 and 365 Girl Scouts. The refreshments were donated by McDonald's - who else?

Study started to determine lower transportation support service costs

According to State Representative Edward E. Mahalak (D-Romulus) a study has been started to find out if support services for the Department of Transportation can be provided more efficiently and at less cost.

The support services are provided by other state departments. They are paid for by transportation funds.

Mahalak, chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Transportation, has been concerned by the rising costs of the support services, which presently cost more than $50 million a year.

"While the tax revenues earmarked for transportation have been declining for the past three years, the costs of the support services continue to rise, despite the fact that no additional responsibilities have been added," Mahalak said.

Money to pay for the support services is taken out of transportation revenues before those funds are divided between the Department of Transportation and local units of government, Mahalak noted. "This means that there is less money for the department and local units for highway, road and street construction and maintenance and other related transportation projects," he said.

The study is being conducted by the Department of Management and Budget Office of Management Practices with involvement from the Department of Transportation, and is being supported and closely followed by Mahalak.

Mahalak will receive monthly reports of the progress of the study. The Final Report is scheduled to be completed by September, 1982.

Meanwhile, Mahalak has sponsored a resolution giving the Southeast Michigan Transportation Authority legislative approval to buy eight new buses and increasing the amount of funds available to SEMTA to acquire land and complete its northwest and southwest terminals.

The resolution was necessary in order to reallocate SEMTA funds. Mahalak explained that the action revises priorities on SEMTA projects so that funds authorized for other priorities can be used for the terminals and additional buses.

Icy roads can be fatal

Winter driving has always been hazardous, and with more and more people purchasing smaller cars, the problem has compounded.

Having an accident-free winter depends not only on your skills to maneuver your vehicle, but also on being wary of "the other driver."

And the only way to do that is to be alert behind the wheel and when hazardous conditions exist either stay off the road or drive with caution.

Driving accidents increase dramatically during the winter months.

Ice slicks, pounding sleet and heavy snow are just some of the hazards which confront a driver in cold weather. To conquer these hazards, police officers suggest the following tips for both large and small vehicles.

In addition to employing these tips, small car drivers should also be "super cautious and alert" in their winter driving.

For instance, one of the biggest dangers of driving on icy patches is the possibility of skidding. This is especially true for cars with front wheel drive, since the weight distribution gives the rear end a tendency to sway.

To avoid this, drivers should be sure not to brake hard or suddenly, which could lock the wheels. Instead, if you do hit an icy spot, ease up on the gas, steady the steering wheel and drive through. If you're stopped on the ice, take off slowly so the wheels don't lose traction and spin.

If your car does begin to skid, don't panic. Keep your foot off the brake and gas pedals, and if the car begins to spin, immediately turn the steering wheel in the direction you want to go. When the wheels regain traction, lightly pump the brakes.

Another problem of winter driving is poor visibility. Since small cars tend to have shorter sight distances on hills and curves, bad weather can make driving very dangerous. That's why it's important to make sure windshield, rear and side windows are free of dirt, snow or ice. Brush snow off the car hood and roof so it doesn't fly back on the windshield or rear window.

Don't forget that small cars aren't seen by other drivers as easily as large vehicles. To compensate, turn on your low beams at dusk and in bad weather. Keep your steering clear and even.

Make turns slowly, particularly on ice and wet areas. Never brake while taking a curve, since this could lock the wheels. And allow extra space between you and the car ahead of you, since snow and ice increases the car's stopping distance.

'Kidnapped'

This Sumpter couple loved it

Being "kidnapped" usually strikes fear into a victim.

Consequently, when Allen Brincat and his wife, Dale, were confronted by strangers at their residence in Sumpter Township they wondered why anyone would "kidnap" them, after all, he had been unemployed since last January and there could be no "ransom money".

"So I was really surprised," said Brincat, a truck driver who hasn't received a pay check since being laid off from the Country Building Supplies in Novi.

The intruders turned out to be members of the Belleville-Van Buren Jaycees who were on a mission. "To aid people in the area during the holidays."

And the Brincats, who have two small children, were among the score of families that the Jaycees were able to help during the Christmas holidays.

The Jaycees accompanied Mrs. Brincat to one of the nearby shopping centers where she immediately proceeded to fill up a shopping cart with groceries. The Jaycees footed the bill. They also purchased toys for John, 3½, and Robbie, 1½, the Brincat's children.

"It was one of the nicest Christmas gifts I have ever received," Mr. Brincat said. "And, believe me, me and my family will never forget the generosity shown us this year."

Legislative tribute

For more than a quarter of a century Peter Bukis (at left) served residents of Wayne County as a member of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. Last week Bukis, a Sumpter Township resident, was honored by the State Legislature with a resolution paying homage to his devotion to work and his service. On hand to make the presentation is Edward Mahalak (D-Romulus) who wished Bukis good luck upon his retirement from the department and presented him with the original copy of the resolution.

Education: Key to controlling head lice

Johnny came home from school with an itchy head today, and when you checked his scalp, what did you find, but nits. Much to your chagrin, Johnny has Pediculus humanus capitis, better known as head lice.

Head lice is a common problem, not related to personal hygiene or income level. They can infect the poorest of people; they can infect the richest of people.

And while head lice is a medical problem, a bigger problem for Dr. Jane Polkowski of the Wayne County Department of Health is educating parents about the disease.

"Lice are very prevalent," she explained, "and it's not a problem in any one school, district, city, state or nation. It takes quite a bit of effort and time to get rid of lice, and if a parent is ashamed, then there's a very negative feeling involved.

"We have to get across to them that everyone, no matter who you are, can get head lice."

Head lice is a contagious disease, however, the adult louse cannot jump or fly from head to head. Lice are transmitted through close contact with someone who already has the disease.

That close contact could be children whispering in each other's ear, sharing combs, brushes, hats or scarves, lying on furniture or carpeting where there may be loose hairs from an infested person or piling coats and other clothing on top of each other.

Dr. Polkowski stresses that lice are not the result of a lack of cleanliness, and that they don't grow in the dirt. In fact, the human scalp provides the proper temperature needed for lice to mature.

Lice measure from 1 to 3 millimeters, depending on their maturity. They lay eggs, called nits, on the hair shafts, using a glue-like substance to keep them in place. The nits are deposited close to the scalp, and with hair growing about a quarter inch a week, the further away the nit for the scalp, the older it is and the more likely it has hatched.

Nits are far smaller than lice, measuring from .8 to 1 centimeter in length and grayish white in color. Unlike a globule of hair spray or a hair cast, nits are hard to remove.

The scalp provides the breeding ground for lice, as well as the food supply, human blood. The mature lice have a stylus type feeding tube, which pierces the skin. It then injects a liquid that keeps blood from coagulating. Dr. Polkowski speculates that that is what causes the itching sensation on the scalp.

Adult lice cannot live away from the human head for more than a couple of days before having to get back to a scalp to feed. The nits can survive for a longer period, up to 10 days, before dying. However, they won't hatch.

Dr. Polkowski added that lice cannot be contracted from animals, like the family pet; they live only on the human head.

Treatment of lice is shampooing, but not with a regular shampoo. Those are not strong enough to kill lice. A medicated shampoo, such as over-the-counter products like RID and A-200 Pyrinate, are recommended, as well as the prescription shampoo Kwell, according to Dr. Polkowski.

Youngsters with lice should have their head shampooed twice — about eight to 10 days apart — to make sure that all of the lice are killed. Dr. Polkowski explained that nits hatch about one week after being deposited on hair shafts, and some not taken care of in the first shampooing could hatch, causing re-infestation.

If one person in a household turns up with lice, it's best to treat every member of the family, since there is more of an opportunity to transmit the lice.

Once the shampoo has been used, Dr. Polkowski recommends using a fine-toothed comb, such as Derbac or Medi-Comb, to comb through the hair to remove remaining nits. If dead nits are allowed to remain on a hair shaft, it can make it difficult in identifying if the infestation has re-occurred, the doctor explained.

Bedding, linens and clothing, should be washed in hot water, since lice tend to dislike extremes in temperature. A high fever can force them to move on to a more suitable "home." Clothing that can't be washed, should be dry cleaned or sealed in air-tight bags for between two and four weeks. Carpeting, furniture and floors should be vacuumed, and a spray, R & C, should be used on environmental surfaces to kill lice.

A must for cleaning — in a 2 percent Lysol solution or a pan of hot water (150 degrees) for five to 10 minutes — are all combs, brushes and hair ornaments.

While the above must be done to get rid of lice, Dr. Polkowski feels educating parents, making them aware that lice isn't something to be ashamed of or kept secret, is the most important step in solving the problem.

"Head lice seems to go in 30-year cycles in Wayne County," she explained. "It's been about 30 years since our last serious outbreak. This time, though, it seems to be peaking for a longer period."

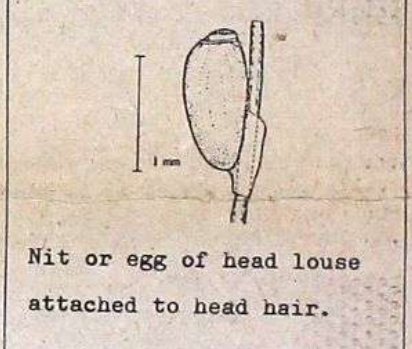

The peak has been for about four years. Last year 34 school districts reported to the health department (excluding Highland Park and Detroit), some 1,600 reported cases of head lice. She stressed that that was reported cases. The figure is probably three times that.

This year those same 34 districts already have reported outbreaks of head lice.

"There must be some way to communicate to a parent to observe and check their child's head," she said. "Pa-

"If only one student has lice, the minimum a school should do is inform parents and screen students, if possible," Dr. Polkowski said. "When it starts to get to two or three cases, the screening should very definitely be considered."

One of the best ways of educating parents about the problem, Dr. Polkowski believes, is through the school's parent-teacher groups. A natural support system in itself, these groups can disseminate information on lice, as well as work with those parents who may have difficulty in doing head checks.

Nit or egg of head louse attached to head hair.

But, more importantly parents must be re-assured that it's nothing to be ashamed of, according to Dr. Polkowski.

"Lice can be contracted anywhere children get together — Boy Scouts, birthday parties, at the movie theater — any place there's an opportunity to spread."

"Parents must be familiar with lice and know that it's common, that it's nothing to be ashamed of. They also must know that it's important to inform the schools, the groups your children belong to, the children they play with. Keeping it quiet only keeps it spreading."

If your child complains of an itchy head, Dr. Polkowski recommends checking around the ears and at the nape of the neck. That's where the first indications of head lice usually are found. A more serious infestation will turn up lice all over the scalp.

She also recommends that parents make good regular and periodic checks of their children's heads.

Army also comes to rescue

Christmas will be a little merrier than it might have been for two Inkster families — thanks to concerned city officials; the part-time soldiers and full-time civilian workers of the Army Reserve's 300th Military Police Command; and a professional soldier with a hard-nosed image that cannot quite conceal a soft spot for needy people.

The people at the Inkster Army Reserve Center on Beech Daly Road presented city officials with $227 to support Inkster city employees' own unofficial Christmas project — providing some Christmas cheer for a few of the local families devastated by economic hard times, ill health or personal tragedy.

The money was presented to City Treasurer Bruce Cook and his committee by Lieutenant Colonel Lawrence J. Laske in an informal ceremony at city hall on Dec. 17.

Laske is the 300th's Active Army advisor and the man who initiated the fund-raising project at the Reserve Center. His reputation for caustic humor and a bulldozer approach to getting things done did not go unexercised during the fund-raising effort.

"I started doing it in Korea," Laske explains. "I had half a quonset hut for my office, and I turned it into a permanent rummage sale. My battalion raised money to help a Korean leper colony."

Later Laske started similar efforts at Army posts in Virginia and Kentucky, with the money going to various local charities. Money was collected in a red metal box, made by inmates at the Army's correctional barracks at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. Laske had the box made while he was assigned as chief of the facility's training program. The box must be hacksawed open to remove the money and is then welded shut again for the next project.

This year the red box sat on a desk in Laske's office at the Reserve Center for several weeks. Visitors tripped over piles of toys, books, clothes and even snow tires donated by Reservists and Army civilian workers. Other Reservists and civilians bought the items that caught their fancy, paying whatever they thought the merchandise — and the cause — was worth.

Unsold items were later donated to the St. Vincent de Paul store on Michigan Avenue in Inkster.

Army to the rescue

When they heard that some of the families in Inkster would not have a Christmas, the 300th Army Reserves responded in a form of a check from Col. Lawrence J. Laske (at left) who presented the funds to Inkster Department Head Committee members Betty Miller (city clerk) and Bruce Cook, (city treasurer). Also pictured is Fire Chief Edgar Frazier. The committee, also made up of department heads Lew Jackson (parks and recreation) and Ernie Mumford (Acting Director Inkster Department of Housing) made the final determination who the recipients of the army's good-will would be.

Workers brought in baked goods that were sold to fellow workers. An officer's wife made a gingerbread house, complete with candy landscape, that was raffled off. All proceeds went into the red box, as did some outright donations.

Even visiting officers from higher headquarters found that dropping a few coins in the red box was the only way to get out of Laske's office with an untwisted arm.

"I don't know. We'll figure that out later," Laske would say, when asked what worthy cause this year's haul was going for.

When the time came, it was natural for the command — which has cooperated closely with the city on several community relations projects since moving to Inkster last year — to turn to its friends at city hall for suggestions on how to use the money.

Laske learned that City Treasurer Cook had started a similar custom in his department, raising money each year to provide some Christmas goodies for underprivileged Inkster families. Now in its third year, the project had expanded to include other city department — but there still isn't enough money to help all the deserving families.

"We asked local school principals to identify families they knew could use some help," Cook explained. "They gave us a list, and we investigated to find out which ones needed help the most."

In some cases, the city learned that an unemployed father had been called back to work, and aid was no longer needed. In others, hard-pressed families urged the officials to spend the money on others.

"Some said there are other families even worse off who should get the help," Cook told the 300th.

The list was pared down, but still — even with the 300th's support — city committee officials said there were more families than they could help.

Laske predicted that, once people at the Reserve Center see how much good their contributions are doing, the red box will be even fuller come next year's holiday season.

Grants help local students 'have art'

NOVA III 'has brought arts into Romulus'

A state and federal grant can go a long way.

Just ask the students in the Romulus Community Schools who were recipients of an arts grant last spring.

That grant, labeled NOVA III was provided through the Wayne Intermediate School District and the Michigan Council of Arts and has brought many pleasant hours of instructions to the students.

The grant was made possible through the work and efforts of William Babcock, art and science instructor at Romulus Junior High School — North and his wife Selina Babcock, an art instructor in the Wayne-Westland Schools, and several other teachers in two adjacent school districts in southwestern Wayne County.

The grant also was awarded to provide added exposure and experience and enrichment in the arts to the schools and community encompassing the Wayne-Westland, Taylor, and Romulus school districts.

The grant was administered in the Romulus Community Schools by Marvin Fischer, assistant superintendent of instruction, at that time. Other staff members utilized the grant in their respective schools.

The Wayne State University Jazz Band came to both the two junior high schools and to the senior high school to present concerts. Field trips to the Detroit Institute of Arts and to Greenfield Village by junior high and senior high school students were also made available as part of the grant.

Romulus Senior High School art students under the direction of Beverly Kellogg and drama students under the direction of Dr. Lois Munkachy worked together to create puppets, scenery, and puppet plays to provide performing art experiences at the Romulus Senior High School.

A drafting student and wood shop students under the direction of Gerald Nault built the puppet theatre and Dr. Munkachy provided video equipment to video tape the performances given by the high school drama students.

A puppeteer from the Puppeteers Guild of America also provided a presensation on puppetry to drama and art students.

For this school year a small amount of the original grant money remains, and plans are under way to continue the puppetry work under the name the ROM-PETS Puppet Theatre of Romulus Senior High School and to take this puppet group to the various elementary schools in the district for performances.

Two of the elementary schools plan to take two or three classes on field trips to art museums and to also work with puppetry.

The senior high school expects to have a performing arts group from the Wayne State University Drama Department perform and in conjunction with this to have a dance workshop with interested physical education students and music-drama students participating.

"NOVA III has brought the arts to the community and to the Romulus Community Schools and will continue to do so in the coming months," Mrs. Kellogg said.

Pediculus humanus capitis (Head Louse)

rents have to remember it's important to inform the schools. Keeping it quiet only allows it to spread."

How a school district handles the problem of a lice outbreak is up to that district and is determined by the resources it has available. Some districts use school nurses to check students; others inform parents through letters. One district has gone the route of selecting and carefully training parents to do head checks on a volunteer basis.

Area gets maternal, child care center

The $8.5 million East Addition to Oakwood Hospital, which was called "a beautiful new facility which will provide a number of new services" by Oakwood President Gerald D. Fitzgerald, was officially dedicated last week in a ceremony which included Oakwood officials and members of the community.

The 67,500 square-foot, four-level structure, which features the Maternal and Child Health Care Center and a Consolidated Physical Medicine and Rehabilitative Services Department, also was open to the public on Friday, Dec. 18, for tours.

With the addition, which also includes a new main entrance to the hospital, Oakwood will serve as the regional center for Downriver communities in western Wayne County to care for high-risk mothers and infants.

While stressing the new structure "will ensure the community the highest quality of health care possible," Fitzgerald also thanked Oakwood employees, the hospital's board of trustees, City of Dearborn officials, several foundations and organizations for funding, and the architects (Giffels Associates, Inc.) and contractors (Darin and Armstrong, Inc.) for their contributions.

"You have all helped make Oakwood a hospital of which we can all be proud," Fitzgerald added.

Dearborn Council President Marge Powell and Mayor John O'Reilly, also expressed their pleasure over the new addition.

"It's a happy occasion," O'Reilly said, in paying tribute to everyone who helped bring the East Addition to fruition. "It will enhance the life of all the people in our area. I'm proud of Oakwood Hospital," he added.

For her part, Mrs. Powell said, "On behalf of the council, I want to commend Oakwood Hospital for its sensitivity to the medical needs of citizens in our area. I congratulate you for your courage and perseverance in attempting to meet these needs. The East Addition symbolizes your sensitivity, courage and perseverance."

Calling the dedication a "grand day for Oakwood," M.W. Davis, chairman of the hospital board of trustees, cited the response of hospital officials in meeting the needs of its patients.

A welcomed addition

Navori, M.D., chief of Oakwood's Department of Obstetrics/Gynecology; Gerald D. Fitzgerald, hospital president; M.W. Davis, chairman of the hospital board of trustees; and Francis C. McMath, a member of the board of trustees. (Photo by Michael Sarnacki)

"When the need for a Maternal and Child Health Care Center became evident to us, we have gone out and done something. When our rehabilitative service area was not sufficient to handle the patient needs in that area, we have done something about it," Davis said.

He also pledged that the board of trustees will continually strive to provide the community "with the best we can offer."

Expressing his "genuine pride" over the addition and the Maternal and Child Health Care Center, Cornelius Navori, M.D., chief of Oakwood's Department of Obstetrics/Gynecology, said, "This unit is an extension of Oakwood's service to the community not only to the immediate Dearborn area but also to the persons in the western Wayne County area."

The Maternal and Child Health Care Center, which occupies more than 22,000 square feet, is located on the third floor. It consists of labor and delivery rooms, post-partum beds, intermediate care and general nurseries, examination rooms, an area for testing outpatient obstetrical patients and other related facilities.

A 20-bed neonatal intensive care unit is an integral part of the center for treating critically ill infants requiring prolonged, specialized hospitalization.

In accordance with both the long-range goals of the hospital and directives of regional and state health agencies, Oakwood's obstetrical and newborn program now provides comprehensive services on a coordinated basis in the western Wayne County area to reduce the incidence of infant mortality and disabilities.

Oakwood, which has an occupancy rate in its obstetric unit of more than 95 percent, ranks third in deliveries in the state with around 4,200 births a year.

The Physical Medicine and Rehabilitative Services Department encompasses Occupational Therapy, Speech Pathology and Physical Therapy, which were previously situated throughout the hospital and not easily accessible to Oakwood's increasing outpatient population.

With the consolidation of those departments on the second floor, improvements in the examination and treatment of patients receiving those services will occur.

Persons 65 years of age and older who require rehabilitative therapy after hip surgery or suffer from a stroke and other debilitating diseases are primary users of Oakwood's physical medicine services.

The construction of the Physical Medicine and Rehabilitative Services Department was made possible, in part, by a $750,000 grant from the Ford Motor Company Fund and gifts through the Oakwood Hospital Foundation. A $100,000 grant was also made by the McGregor Fund for neonatal unit equipment.

The addition includes a consolidated patient information and registration area at the entrance and a new Oakwood Hospital Guild gift shop. As part of other ongoing changes, several departments have also been relocated to the new facility.

To fellow residents

Senior spreads love

Loving people comes easily to Vera Butler. That's because she has done it all of her life.

At age 75, she is still doing what she does best. As a resident of Wayne Living Center Nursing Care, she says she loves everyone in the nursing home.

"I have met lots of people here," Ms. Butler commented. "I love people. That's why I don't have a TV — I'd rather be out here talking to people."

On a typical day, she can be found in the facility's lounge listening to her radio and chatting with other residents and staff members at the Living Center.

That is if she's not rounding up residents for one of the activities at the nursing home.

"She's our resident social director," Joann Regits, activities director, said. She explained that Ms. Butler keeps track of when the activities are scheduled and then encourages other residents to attend them.

Her favorite activity is bingo. The residents all gather in the facility's dining room every Wednesday and play for small cash prizes.

In addition to bingo and other programs, Ms. Butler is active in the facility's resident council, a group of residents who meet monthly to make suggestions to the facility's management and to plan future events. Throughout the month, the council works on various projects and coordinates special events at the nursing home.

In the past, the resident council and the activities director worked together and planned several trips to Tiger Stadium and one to Cedar Point.

Ms. Butler especially enjoys the trips to Tiger Stadium because she was born right around the corner from the ballpark and grew up as an avid baseball fan.

"When I was little, I'd sit on the curb of Trumbull and watch all the people go to the game," she recalled.

As a child, Ms. Butler also studied piano at the McDonald School of Music and the Liggett School, both located in Detroit at the time.

There are a lot of things she says she liked about growing up in Detroit. As she talks of her fond memories on Boblo Island and on Tashmoo Boat on Lake St. Clair and Clinton Bay, Ms. Butler's eyes light up.

Ms. Butler was transferred from the hospital to the Living Center five years ago to receive the specialized nursing care offered at the nursing home. At first, Ms. Butler missed Ypsilanti but now she doesn't think of it often because she's too busy chatting with the many friends she has made at the nursing home.

House approves Bill to improve assessing practice

Representative Thomas H. Brown (D-37th District) sponsor of House Bill 5070, recently announced the passage of the bill by the House of Representatives on Dec. 15, 1981. The bill is intended to improve assessing practices.

In 1976, the legislature accepted the argument that property valuations had become artificially inflated because such inevitable costs as money paid to obtain financing ("points"), surveying fees, and the value of personal property (stoves and refrigerators etc.) left behind by previous owners were being included in real estate data used by assessors, county equalization directors, and the state tax commission in arriving at true cash value for assessment purposes.

Public Act 293 required that such costs be excluded from assessments and sales ratio studies used for equalization. So that assessors and county and state equalization officers could know which amounts to exclude, the act also required that beginning on Dec. 31, 1977, buyers of property, including those signing land contracts, would have to file with assessors two copies of their purchase agreements, or affidavits revealing how much they spend on the excludable items.

The section requiring purchasers to file the information had just become operative when it was effectively negated by Public Act 25 of 1978, which amended the provision to say instead that buyers "may" report the excludable items. According to assessors, the law was changed because real estate agents had been able to convince home buyers that the provision amounted to both an invasion of privacy and a clumsy bureaucratic attempt to obtain information on property prices the easy way, according to Brown. Since the legislature made the reports optional, assessors and equalization officials have come under increasing pressure to produce equitable, accurate assessments, he said.

"Equalization by class has made it impossible for a local assessor to deliberately undervalue residential property at the expense of those who own property in other classifications," he added. "Truth in taxation and truth in assessing have moved from being political slogans toward legislative enactment. These changes will require that assessors and equalization directors have complete information in order to perform their jobs according to the law."

"Yet, because of collusion between salespeople and customers, information has become so scarce in some resort communities that there are no sales to inform assessments and equalization studies. Assessors say that most purchasers actually suffer by not filing the information because valuations of newly sold property must therefore arise only from estimates of selling prices. Moreover, assessors have no way of knowing which sales reflect abnormally high prices that should be ignored when they attempt to decide the true cash value of comparable property."

House Bill No. 5070 would require people who purchase property on or after Dec. 31, 1981, to file with assessors two copies of purchase agreements or affidavits that reveal amounts paid for obtaining financing, the portion of the sales price attributable to personal property and surveying costs.

The bill would benefit purchasers by separating inevitable, but peripheral costs from the actual selling prices of property, and identifying those actual selling prices for assessors. Owners of comparable property would also benefit because assessors would be able to exclude from operative sales data the aberrational sales that often reveal a purchaser's gullibility more than the actual value of a piece of property.

The law requires assessors, equalization directors, and the state tax commission to ignore "points", yet it contains no requirement that the information be made available. If the legislature wants equitable valuations, it should give assessors and equalization officials the tools to do the job, especially if the requirements of "truth in taxation" and "truth in assessing" are to be met.

It has become nearly impossible for assessors and equalization officers to even discover that a piece of property has changed hands because real estate agents, buyers, and sellers have been able to keep information out of the public record. Many rural counties do not have multiple listing services that reveal asking prices. The bill would require that either sales agreements or affidavits be filed, and thus give assessors an accurate picture of the market.

"Many real estate agents say that the bill would artificially inflate the level of assessments because the scarcity of mortgage money has required the use of creative financing in which the price of a home might be increased by several thousand dollars so that parties to a deal can get around the limit of 11 percent on land contract interest," Brown said. "The buyer pays interest of 11 percent, with the understanding that the price of the property has increased to offset what the seller stands to lose in interest which, if not limited by the law, could reach much higher figures. If buyers were required to report such inflated figures to assessors, the valuation of all property in the residential class would be increased accordingly."

Exposure of prices paid for real estate would probably open the eyes of many people who have been willing to accept whatever salespeople tell them. Besides, the bill would not interfere with such deals; it would merely make it easier to discern what market conditions actually exist. Moreover, the bill would not require that anyone reveal the price he or she paid for a house. An affidavit could include just the price paid for the personal property, surveyor's fee, and loan origination costs."

House Bill No. 5070 was amended in the House to reduce the assessment levels to 44 percent in 1982, 39 percent in 1983 and 35 percent in 1984 and thereafter. This will effectively cut property taxes across the state. It is estimated that property taxes will be cut $1.5 billion over the three-year period. Any losses to schools, local government, which are attributable to this legislation will be refunded from the state general fund. The exemptions will provide a reduction in property tax of $600,000,000 estimated in tax year 1982.

Vera Butler, a resident of Wayne Living Center-Nursing Care, finds she is happiest when she is loving people.

Another Christmas story

Area responded to 'Giving Tree'

This is another one of those rare Christmas stories.

It's about people — people who live in the Van Buren, Belleville, Sumpter area. About people who bank at the National Bank of Detroit branch in Belleville.

About people who care about people.

Earlier in the month, the Belleville Junior Study Club organized a "Giving Tree" made of ornaments specially created for a Christmas tree that stood in the lobby of the NBD. One could replace the sparkling ornament by placing a gift for a needy child below the tree.

"The people in this town and the area really came through, in an unbelievably generous way," noted Cathy L. Horste, President of the GFWC-MSFWC Belleville Junior Study Club. "It is things like this that restore your faith and spirit in people."

Club members decorated the tree at NBD on Main Street with hand-crafted Christmas tree ornaments, each bearing a tag with the name and age of an area needy child. There were 89 such ornaments representing hopeful kids placed on the tree. The object was, of course, to encourage local residents to bring a wrapped gift for one of the children, and to take the valuable ornament in trade.

"This was an experiment, and we had no idea how well it would work, but the cause was so worthwhile that we thought we would give it a try," Ms. Horste pointed out.

The goal was 89 presents — one for each child. The club received over 200 gifts.

"The wrapped gifts just kept pouring in...even when we ran out of ornaments. People just chose a child's name from the pile of gifts already wrapped and placed around the tree, and then gave the child an additional gift," Ms. Horste added.

"We noticed that some givers made a special effort to choose a child that came close in age to a child of their own, and we also noticed that more than one of the gifts was given by a child him/her self, to a matching child."

"It should also be noted that we had some very large support from the Belleville-Van Buren Chamber of Commerce, the Belleville Women's Study Club, NBD employees, and Art Wagner of Canton Township, who donated several hand-carved wooden toys," Ms. Horste concluded.

A milestone at Martin and Son

A milestone of sorts was celebrated earlier this month when the Martin & Son auto and truck repair shop marked its 25th anniversary. The shop opened on Dec. 3, 1956, and was built by Henry Martin and his son, Frederick. Since the death of Mr. Martin, in 1974, Fred has carried on the successful business and he is presently joined by his son, Randy, who is, of course, learning the business. Presently the company employs three others and pictured above are members of the staff including Bob Brown, (from left), Fred Martin (owner), Ron Frederick, Ron Ramey, Randy Martin, the proprietor's son.

Divorced? 'Y' offers support

The YWCA of Western Wayne County has two Support Groups for Divorced Women. Both groups meet semi-monthly on the first and third weeks. This support group serves as a vital support system for any woman who is separated, divorced or in the process of divorce.

On Monday, January 4, 1982, the Livonia group will be meeting at Newburg Methodist Church, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia from 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. During this meeting, the group will be having a support discussion of feelings that are common during the divorce process. Facilitator will be Georgene Sloan of Livonia.

On Tuesday, January 5, 1982, the Taylor group will meet from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall, Southminster United Presbyterian Church, 21845 Wick, Taylor. "Financial Planning" will be the topic. Mary Ann Currie, Dearborn, a volunteer with Credit Counseling Centers will offer tips on budgeting and setting realistic goals.

Anyone is welcome to attend both of these meetings. For further information, contact Pamela Cronenwett, Area Director, at the YWCA, 561-4110.

Is the hat enchanted?

For some, the weather outside may be frightful, however, for Sheila and Dennis Tackett of Sumpter Township it was just right for packing snow and creating a snowman.

And that appears to be the preoccupation of many residents in Sumpter and the area as an army of snowmen — and women — are suddenly appearing around the town.

For the elderly

EDC seeks builder for housing village

The Economic Development Corporation of Wayne County sent requests for proposals to 40 contractors throughout the United States for the development of an elderly housing village on the old Wayne County Child Development Center site in Northville Township, Michigan.

The purpose of this solicitation is to secure the services of a highly-qualified developer capable of financing the construction of the proposed elderly housing village according to a phased, long-term development plan.

The property is located on the east side of Sheldon Road between Five and Six Mile Roads, north of the Plymouth State Home and Training School in Northville Township.

The development plans call for dwelling units and service-oriented facilities.

'Day of Conscience' is set aside for education

A major effort to call public attention to the importance of — and need to support — public education has been announced by the Michigan Education Association in conjunction with the National Education Association.

January 17, 1982, has been designated as National Day of Conscience for Public Education and will be observed by parents and teachers across the nation.

"So much of what has made this nation great is based on public education," said MEA president Keith Geiger. "But today our quality public education is threatened. That's why MEA is trying to communicate to the general public the pressing need to become involved in supporting our public schools."

MEA and its local affiliates will conduct numerous activities across the state to involve the public with their local schools and to focus attention toward problems in areas of child nutrition, vocational education, school transportation, double sessions in junior and senior highs, library services, lack of equipment and supplies and teacher layoffs.

Among the activities planned around National Day of Conscience are:

- A series of public service announcements by key national leaders who support public schools;
- A national poster contest for K through eighth grade youngsters including local contests in Michigan; and
- Appearances by educators around the state on news and talk programs to explain the threats facing public education today;
- Local programs inviting the public into the schools, and many other activities that will be announced between now and January 17.

4-H workshop is scheduled

More than 20 Wayne County residents will attend the 4-H Leadership Development Workshop January 15-17 at Kettunen Center in Tustin.

"The purpose of the two-day workshop is to develop and enhance older teen and adult 4-H leaders' leadership skills so they can function more effectively as youth program leaders," says Phyllis Bell Miller, Wayne County Extension 4-H Youth Agent.

Activities will include sessions for both younger teens coming into leadership roles and older teens and adults seeking new and better skills.

"Participants will learn new leadership techniques to use successfully with 4-H clubs, special interest groups or committees," Ms. Miller said.

This workshop is sponsored by a grant through the Michigan 4-H Foundation from the Turner-Ousterhout Endowment Fund of East Lansing, Michigan National Bank of Lansing and other local supporters.

Views On Dental Health

By KENNETH A. FOX, D.D.S.

TIMING AND TOOTHBRUSHING

Does toothbrushing prevent tooth decay? One has to wonder because tooth decay is widespread despite the increased sale of toothbrushes and dentifrices.

There are reasons for this paradox. One is that the toothbrush is usually not used at the time when it could be the most effective. Acid formation on the tooth surface begins within moments after sugar has entered into the secluded areas and reaches a maximum in 15 to 30 minutes. This is why the toothbrush should be used immediately after eating if it is going to exert its greatest effect in disrupting acid formation. Brushing teeth after getting up or before going to bed has a beneficial cosmetic effect and a stimulating action on the gum tissue, but is not of much help in controlling tooth decay.

If the teeth cannot be brushed promptly after meals or snacks that have a high sugar content, rinse the mouth thoroughly with water. The flushing action can remove the soluble, fermentable sugar from the sheltered areas before the acid attack takes place. ***

Van Buren District teachers were busy during the holidays raising funds for the needy and a teachers' pancake supper helped raise monies to make sure local kids had a happy Christmas. The proceeds from the supper were presented by Bob Harkai (above photo, at left) to George Hunter, co-chairman of the Belleville Goodfellows and to Michael Huziak (below) of the Sumpter Goodfellows. The Ambassadors, a chorale group from Belleville High, sang Christmas carols to entertain participants. Pleased with the success of their inaugural pancake supper, the teachers vowed to stage many more during the coming year. Harkai also played Santa during the event and passed out candies to the children.

County Commissioners urge Reagan's support

President Ronald Reagan is being urged by the Chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to spare the County proposed cuts in federally-funded Community Development Block Grant and Urban Development Action Grant programs collectively worth more than $20 million to the County in the past.

Board Chairman Samuel A. Turner wrote Reagan expressing "deep concern about proposed budget cuts and possible termination" of the grants and assistant housing programs provided annually to 30 of the 43 communities within the County for nearly a decade. More than $7 million has been applied to rehabilitation of local housing needs alone, said Turner.

He pointed out to Reagan that Wayne County is an urban county with the third-largest population in the nation, which has successfully administered the grants for these communities since 1975. "While we realize the need for constraints on federal spending and for reducing heretofore rampant inflation rates, we also firmly believe there is critical need for continued federal involvement in programs to improve our nation's urban areas," Turner declared.

Turner said further that local units of government, given conditions of the existing economy in this area, cannot meet the national objective of "establishment and maintenance of viable urban communities" with strictly local resources. "We need the assistance of the federal government," he emphasized.

Turner asked Reagan for continuation of the programs at current funding levels. The letter was sent last week to Reagan and Samuel Pierce, Chief of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Brothers open area dental office

Two brothers have opened a family dentistry in the area.

Bruce L. Hern, D.D.S., and his brother, Robert, D.D.S., graduates of the University of Michigan, have established their office at 1747 Michigan Ave. in Ypsilanti.

The Hernes, whose father owns Beverly Furniture in Ypsilanti, have converted a 40-year-old home into a dental office and did much of the construction work on the house.

Local youths can join arts troupe . . . and travel throughout Michigan

Wayne County young people with an interest in dance, drama and vocal or instrumental music may become members of the Michigan 4-H Performing Arts Troupe and travel throughout the state entertaining Michigan residents.

Membership in the troupe is open to any young person, 14-19 years of age. Applicants don't have to be current 4-H members but must agree to enroll in a 4-H arts project in their county upon acceptance.

"Becoming a member of the statewide performing arts troupe is a great opportunity for young people to use their creative and artistic skills and meet new friends from across the state," says Phyllis Miller, Wayne County Extension 4-H Youth Agent.

According to Ms. Miller, previous extensive training in the performing arts is not mandatory.

"Youths interested in joining the troupe just need to have a strong desire to become members, work hard and combine their talents with others," she explained.

Interested youths should also be willing to attend a series of intensive, monthly workshop/rehearsals which will be conducted on Saturdays in January through March of next year.

Attendance at two weekend camps in April and May is also required.

Final rehearsals will be held at Michigan State University in June, prior to the group's performance during 4-H Exploration Days.

There are no membership or application fees required to participate. However, members are responsible for their own transportation to and from workshops, rehearsals and the MSU residency program in June.

Members will also be required to pay approximately $65 for weekend workshops and MSU rehearsal meals and lodging expenses.

Girls are required to purchase a troupe leotard and ballet slippers; boys need to purchase their own jazz dance shoes. The rest of the members' costumes are supplied.

"For many, becoming a member of the performing arts troupe has been an experience of a lifetime," Ms. Miller says. "The kids have fun, learn new skills, meet new people and visit new places. Being part of such an exciting group is an experience few young people ever forget."

Other benefits of troupe membership include forming long-lasting relationships with other troupe members and having an opportunity to work with professionals and other practicing artists.

Last year, troupe members traveled more than 7,500 miles entertaining thousands of people at fairs and festivals throughout the state. They also have appeared at the Pontiac Silverdome, the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island and the Detroit Renaissance Center.

To apply for membership, interested Wayne County young people should contact Priscilla Webb at the 4-H Community Center, or call 921-5080. Applications must be received by Jan. 11, 1982.

Students are featured in concert

The Eastern Educational Television Network of Boston, Massachusetts has made available a special satellite broadcast to all Public Broadcast stations.

"A Junior Original Concert" features six young Yamaha — trained artists, ages 10-15, with the National Symphony Orchestra under the direction of world-renowned Mstislav Rostropovich in a concert of the performers own compositions.

In keeping with the tradition of fine family programs, WTVS Channel 56 in Detroit will air this special on January 2 at 4 p.m. This special is recommended not only for its wide family appeal, but also because of the especially high quality of the performances.

Washington Post music critic Joseph McClellan writes that these young people are perhaps "the Beethovens, Debussys, or Coplands of the year 2000." Other critics are calling this special "amazing" and "overwhelming."

The Yamaha Music Foundation, part of the Yamaha International Corporation of California has sponsored this major musical special. The concerts were held at the United Nations in New York, and the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C.

The Yamaha International Corporation also sponsors locally the Yamaha Electone Organ Festival each spring.

Musicians of all ages are encouraged to compete in the festival which results in a National Yamaha Electone Organ Festival. For more information regarding this years competition, you may contact Yamaha Keyboard World in Wayne or Livonia. "A Junior Original Concert" is the seasons' most surprising and dramatic musical event for the entire family, and the most compelling evidence of the success of the Yamaha method of music education and Channel 56 teamwork in bringing to your home quality entertainment the year round.

Please remember January 2 at 4 p.m. for the critically acclaimed "A Junior Original Concert."

Auto Club recognizes Hart

State Sen. George Z. Hart of Dearborn (right) earned the Automobile Club of Michigan's Steering Wheel Award for sponsoring a law requiring use of an approved automobile child restraint device for infants less than 1 year old. The law, which takes effect April 1, 1982, also requires that children under 4 must be either in a restraint in the front seat of a car or secured by a standard safety belt in the back seat. Making the presentation is Auto Club President Jack Avignone who hailed the new law as a major step in improving protection for children in cars.

Pending approval of negotiated agreement

23 deputies may return to patrol Metro Airport

The Wayne County Road Commission today unanimously approved an agreement returning 23 Wayne County Sheriffs' Deputies to duty at the Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport.

The Board is pleased with the proposed contract and feels sure that the Sheriffs' Deputies will do the policing we expect of them," said Road Commissioner Chairman Michael Berry.

The deputies, pending approval of the agreement by all parties concerned (including the Board of Wayne County Commissioners, the Sheriff, his deputies and sergeant locals) will return to the Airport duties probably in early January, a Road Commission spokesman said.

Under terms of the one-year agreement hammered out by staff negotiators over a two-week period and unanimously approved today (Wednesday) by the Road Commission, the deputies will return to the Airport at current salary rates.

The Road Commission's decision permits the return of five sergeants, 18 deputies and a stenographer, who will be assigned their areas of jurisdiction by the Airport officials.

While assignments have not yet been announced, the Road spokesman noted that historically the Sheriffs' Airport detail responsibilities included the Airport's roadways, traffic control and general outside police routine including inspections of all parking areas — tasks currently being performed by Airport security forces employed by the Road Commission.

Michigan ski resort operators eye record winter season

Michigan ski operators are dreaming of a white Christmas — a holiday which could herald a record ski season and cap one of the state's best tourism years ever, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Michigan's year-long tourism boom should continue through New Year's, culminating in a 4 to 6 percent rise over 1980," said James Drury, Auto Club's Travel Operations manager. "Ski operators hope the state's tourism increase will continue through March and translate into the ski industry's first $150 million season."

"Advance holiday bookings promise a strong start for the 17 ski areas in Michigan which offer lodging," Drury said.

"While many holiday travelers delay lodge reservations until Christmas-New Year's weather reports are out, nearly half of the ski lodges already are booked during much of the holiday period, and that figure could jump to 70 percent before the holidays," he added.

Lodges with Christmas holiday vacancies, according to an Auto Club telephone survey, are Tyrolean Hills, Boyne Mountain, Caberfae, Crystal Mountain, Schuss Mountain, Sugar Loaf, Ski Brule, Ski Homestead and Pine Mountain.

"Many hotels and motels within easy driving distance of popular ski lodges also still have accommodations," Drury said.

Auto Club expects motorists to log 586 million miles in Michigan — 2 percent more miles than last year — during each of the 78-hour Christmas and New Year's holidays. The Christmas holiday begins at 6 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 24, and ends at midnight Sunday, Dec. 27.

Twenty-four persons died over last year's 102-hour Christmas holiday. Alcohol was a known or suspected factor in 83 percent of the deaths while 73 percent of the mishaps occurred in darkness. The last 78-hour Christmas holiday was in 1978 when 32 persons died in traffic.

The pre-holiday "Fuel Gauge" survey of 300 stations along major travel routes shows motorists will find adequate gasoline supplies. Nineteen percent of the surveyed stations will operate daylight hours Christmas Day.

"Our travel information records show that 1981 will be the second consecutive year for tourism growth in Michigan," Drury said. "One of the major reasons for this growth is the state's sagging economy, which has forced many Michigani-ans to vacation close to home instead of taking more expensive, long-distance trips.

"Requests from AAA members for Michigan destinations through November also are slightly above 1978, which is the record year for Michigan tourism," he added. Requests for AAA TourBooks are up 6 percent over 1978.

For out-of-state travelers, Florida continues to be the favored destination for Michigan vacationers. Auto Club members' requests for routings to Florida are 10 percent above 1980.

Florida cities also are among the warm-weather destinations favored by air travelers. Major airlines report heavy bookings for Phoenix, Houston, Hawaii, the Caribbean, Mexico and California sun spots. Peak travel days are Dec. 18-24 and Jan. 1-2.

To avert $$$ losses

Preferred postal rates are hiked

Preferred mail rates for nonprofit and other qualified mailers will be adjusted January 10 as a result of Congressional cuts in Postal Service appropriations that are used to subsidize those rates.

The Board of Governors of the Postal Service, during a special meeting, voted to adjust the rates in order to avoid financial losses.

The new rates will bring all preferred-rate categories, with two exceptions, up to the rate levels that would have gone into effect in 1987 under the phase-in schedule for such mail established by the Postal Reorganization Act.

In its continuing resolution enacted December 15, Congress provided for second-class in-county and fourth-class library rates at levels that would have taken effect in 1984.

The adjustments were required to make up for a reduction of the revenue forgone appropriation that reimburses the Postal Service for handling these mailings.

Under the Postal Reorganization Act and subsequent legislation, these rates were to be phased in annually to reach full attributable costs by 1987.

The continuing resolution enacted on December 15 reduced the revenue forgone appropriation from $800 million to $614 million.

The Postal Reorganization Act directs the Postal Service to adjust rates for revenue-forgone mail categories so that revenue from users of those categories will equal any lost appropriations from Congress.

Eligible for special benefits?

VA is seeking ex-POWs

Veterans service organizations and some 500 military unit associations are being asked to help the Veterans Administration locate 57,000 very special veterans.

The 57,000 are part of the 100,000 living American former prisoners of war who became potentially eligible for benefits as the result of recent legislation. VA already has the names of 43,000 former prisoners of war, held by the enemy for as short a period as 30 days to establish entitlement to compensation for certain disabilities.

These veterans may now be compensated for certain psychological and nutrition-related disorders regardless of when in their lifetimes they first appear.

Eligibility for inpatient and outpatient medical care, on a priority basis, now exists for all ex-prisoners of war. The new law also provides that a veteran's captivity need not have been during wartime for these liberalizing benefits number is especially important.

VA plans to contact all veterans identified in this manner to inform them of the details of the legislation and answer any questions they may have.

VA is also asking members of the public to advise any veteran they know who is a former POW of the new legislation. Telephone directories list the numbers for VA offices, and toll-free telephone service to them is available in each state.

Our Opinions

New Year-1982

There are few of us in Michigan who are not happy to see 1981 disappear into the pages of history.

The depression it has brought over this state is second to none in our history. The less said about yesterday, the better.

We welcome 1982 with outstretched arms. Cognizant that the babe won't be able to cure all of our ills, we nonetheless greet the next 365 days with optimism and hope.

There is a tense alertness that the New Year will bring with it hopes of employment and instead of workers standing outside the gate looking in, as some approximately 300,000 in this state are, they will instead be at their work benches, proving once again that Michiganders may fall, but they will never be counted out.

Fresh-faced 1982 can reaffirm our hope in our society if management and labor rekindle the spirit that once made us the most productive nation in the history of civilization.

We do not need a world war to solve our economical problems. It would destroy all that we have hoped and prayed for, for ourselves and our children.

However, although we are a weary people, we will not shy away from any aggressor for we have proven time after time that this country is as strong in war as in peace.

Our priorities in 1982 must be America first and always—for a weak America will invite disaster not only here but abroad. If we do not look to ourselves to solve our problems, how then can we solve those problems on foreign soils?

And, as the countdown begins for 1982, let us always remember that the precariousness of life is so oft compared with a light of a candle—a slight wind can snuff it out.

Therefore, live each day in 1982 extending your hand to help another for to do so you will help forge a link of human decency.

Santa gets a hug

Santa turned up last week at the Christmas Party for the Van Buren Convalescent Home and was immediately given a huge hug by one of the 200 enthusiastic Santa fans. The party was organized by the Polish Legion American Veterans Post No. 167 and if you look closely you'll see Al Januszyk playing the key role of Santa. Santa's helpers included Pete Krystniak, Stanley and Audrey Babik and Robert Ostrowski. The Legionnaires passed out more than 250 candy bars to the senior citizens.

The Hillenbrand Report

Urban sprawl- - what price must we pay?

BY BERNARD F. HILLENBRAND

Excluding food, one of the most interesting regional differences between these United States is the traditional rights vested individual property owners.

In some Sunbelt cities like Houston, voters have resisted zoning restriction, no matter how chaotic city life becomes. Northern cities, meanwhile, face similar chaos, despite complex planning procedures that try the patience of Job.

While high interest rates wreak havoc in real estate markets, while new housing tracts lie lifeless on the fringes of the nation's suburbs, while citizens groan over property taxes, let us pause to consider the high cost of urban sprawl.

This issue was brought to mind by a recent Virginia study. At the request of local government officials, two law professors reviewed more than 30 court decisions on zoning over a 25 year period. The court, they concluded, had methodically stripped local governments of their powers to regulate land use. Each decision encouraged economic development at the expense of other purposes of zoning.

What purpose, land use regulation, then?

Well, for one, zoning permits local governments to make best use of schools and libraries. Planning creates good neighborhoods by grouping similar businesses, and residential units.

Third, planned development allows economy in construction and maintenance of sewers, street lights, utilities, water lines, bridges, economy in organization of garbage collection routes and other services.

During their research Professors Lillian R. BeVier of the University of Virginia, and Denis J. Brion of Washington and Lee University, documented several striking examples. Among them was a string of defeats suffered by Fairfax County, Va. between 1971 and 1975. Supervisor James M. Scott is convinced real estate taxes might be lower today had the power to regulate land use been upheld by the courts at that time. He says the development of the county would have proceeded in a much more cost-effective manner.

This wealthy Washington, D.C. suburb is now densely populated. If and when real estate picks up again, new construction will begin even farther from the central city. Speculator-landholders of Virginia's Loudoun County farmland are just waiting for a break.

The truth about taxes and Public Act 114

By Thomas H. Brown
State Representative

The winter tax bills have been mailed to all Westland property owners as of December 1, 1981. The difference in the dollar amount of your 1981 property tax and your 1980 property tax is attributable to several taxing changes.

First, inflation and sales studies caused S.E.V. to climb approximately 16% through an equalization process that has been in effect since 1966, as required by the Constitution which was adopted by a vote of the people.

Some assessments changed because of voted new millage or renewal millage which, when fully spread, raise more tax dollars.

Also, P.A. 114, when implemented, caused residential, agricultural, industrial, commercial, developmental and timber cut-over property assessments to reflect 50% of fair market.

The city, the county and the school people are saying, "We are not raising your property taxes, P.A. 114, passed by the Legislature, did it."

Ladies and gentlemen, P.A. 114 had some effect on your tax bill, but local officials are being less than truthful with you.

The raise in property tax in the City of Westland caused by P.A. 114 is approximately 10% of the 26% increase in S.E.V. Ten percent because of P.A. 114. Sixteen percent equalization process in effect since 1966, which has been acceptable to city councils, school boards, etc. each and every year because it has provided them an annual automatic increase in funds without being noticed by the taxpayer.

In 1981, they used it again and would not publicly acknowledge it.

The remainder of this release will be an attempt to inform you of the increases in property taxes for services on all levels of local government supported by Westland property taxpayer dollars.

You will note that each and every branch of local government receiving tax dollars from Westland taxpayers received a substantial increase in 1981 property tax dollars in comparison with what you paid them in 1980. (Garden City schools and Taylor schools did not increase. The new voted millage recently approved will result in a raise of taxes in Taylor.)

Inkster Schools — $79,240.36 - 25.03% increase in tax dollars; Cherry Hill Schools — $114,185.14 - 22.34% increase in tax dollars; Livonia Schools — $930,772.40 - 17% increase in tax dollars; and Wayne-Westland Schools $2,857,382.96 - 17% increase in tax dollars.

The schools in Westland have a raise of $3,954,285.86 in property tax dollars in 1981 as compared with 1980. Wayne County will receive $349,249.33 increase in property tax dollars from Westland taxpayers in 1981.

Wayne County Intermediate Schools receives $665,241.16 from Westland taxpayers, an increase of $65,589.96. ### Police beat

By TOM MOORADIAN
Managing Editor

The "game" between police officer and felon is a deadly serious one. And the statement is made to assure the reader this writer doesn't take crime and criminals lightly. They — the law breakers — are a detestable lot.

However, I can't help but smile about an accident that took place some two decades ago in what was then the Township of Dearborn or later known as Dearborn Heights. That was, of course, John Canfield territory.

It was also extremely difficult to cover the crime scene in that township because police officers usually "misplaced files", and it took ever so long — especially on "deadline" days to find them.

And when a reporter has a deadline he meets it, or he soon finds himself out on the street or worst even, writing those "never-ever exciting 'obits'".

During those many, many nights while going over police reports (in those days the reporter went to the beat and didn't wait for a phone call from the chief if anything big broke) the dialogue would go something like this:

Police officer: If you guys didn't write about the RA's (armed robberies), those guys would not be hitting us so hard. They read that someone knocked off a place here and got a couple of grand and they want some of the action.

Reporter: You're out of your head. They'll knock over a store because it's easy picking.

Police officer: You're full of — Reporter: Maybe... It's the old "egg and chicken argument" — who knows what came first? But, one thing for sure, no police officer is going to convince me that a criminal, especially the run-of-the-mill, two-bit illiterate is going to spend time reading newspapers to find out which store or market to hit next.

He cases the place or walks in and coldly announces his intentions. If the felon spent time reading as a youngster he probably wouldn't have wound up behind a gun or behind bars.

Admittedly, all this is pure speculation and I haven't been inside a police department for years so I don't know what the attitude is nowadays, but criminals, in general, haven't changed.

They still keep on shooting, robbing and killing.

And I doubt that they take the time to read about it.

Do you?

Sen. Carl Levin, 3327 Dirksen Bldg., Washington, D.C. 20510.

Gov. William G. Milliken, Capital Building, Lansing, Mich. 48901.

In California, Collins notes, the courts now offer local governments strong protection. And the state encourages private developers to share the cost of providing utilities to new communities.

Unfortunately, few developers stick around long enough to shoulder the nation's increasing burden of maintaining the urban landscape. New York City recently figured it needed $40 billion to repair streets alone. Chicago estimates its bill to renovate a crumbling "infrastructure" will be $3.3 billion. Cleveland needs $134 million just for bridges.

Every mile of urban sprawl adds strain to water supplies, mass transit lines and highways municipalities share. The federal contribution for construction of these huge, lengthy projects is coming to an end. This year also sees

Residents rally around the needy

EDITOR — Two weeks ago we received a call from Focus/HOPE in Detroit that a mother and three small children residing in Van Buren were in dire need of food and warm clothing.

We immediately sent out calls for help to local residents and organizations. The response was far beyond our "wildest" dreams and imagination.

The family members are now warmly dressed, nutritionally fed and were able to enjoy a very Merry Christmas.

We feel that some local and area people should be singled out and thanked for responding to the call for help; we believe that these people personify the good and kindness that the season exemplifies.

These people are: Mrs. Florence Kline, of Helping Hands in Romulus; Mr. Tom Welty, Treasurer of Van Buren Township; Mr. Chester Wojcie, Van Buren Township Trustee; Mr. Jerry Maton of the Van Buren-Bellefonte Goodfellows.

And to local residents who participated in the first annual Van Buren Township Christmas Benefit held at MaBelles Lounge and Restaurant on Sun., Dec. 20, 1981.

Because of the caring of local and area individuals, three little youngsters really believe that there is a Santa Claus. Thank you again for your assistance.

Englishman seeks kin

EDITOR — I know it's very unusual for a reader to ask a newspaper to locate people, but I need your help because of the several communities to which you circulate. I have been asked to try to locate the following persons and I hope that someone in your area will know the whereabouts of the following persons:

Joseph Shaw, age 63, his wife, Edith. They emigrated to Michigan from Clydebank, Scotland in 1953. They took up residence at 8225 Colonial Lane, Dearborn Hts. He was employed as a fitter by General Motors. His brother Andrew would love to get in touch with him. His name is Andrew Shaw. He lives in England and has not heard from him for many years.

Hope that you can publish this. My son who is in the Navy stationed in Ports month, England called me to see if I could manage to get these people united. It would make Mr. Shaw very happy if he could hear from his brother.

Turkeys stir up controversy

EDITOR — Evidently, the economical decline affecting businesses hasn't affected the Farmer Jack chain. Intending to purchase seven turkeys for food baskets for needy families, I went to Farmer Jack on Michigan Avenue in Dearborn. The money for the turkeys had been donated by my union, Local 25 of Wayne County General Hospital.

Hoping to get the best for the amount of money, I chose Farmer Jack.

After looking at all the turkeys on sale, I thought the 58 cents a lb. sale turkeys were just what we needed.

There was just one catch, there was a limit, one to a customer. I thought, this is Christmas, surely that doesn't apply in our case.

Confidently, I approached a manager in the office and explained to him the reason for wanting more than one turkey. Without any deliberation or consideration, he told me flatly and bluntly, "NO."

On my way out of the store, I saw another manager. The same explanation was given to him. I also told him, I intended to purchase my own groceries there. He conferred with someone, returned and told me, I would have to make seven trips in and out of the store to get the turkeys we needed. The reason being, customers seeing the seven turkeys would also want 7, 3 or 4 turkeys. How many people purchase that many turkeys at one time? Also, how many people would look closely enough at the price, to see, the turkeys were the 1 to a Person? I told him thanks, but no thanks, I did not have the time to make 7 trips in an out of his store. We left the store, puzzled and somewhat angered. As luck would have it, we went to a supermarket on Cherry Hill and found a plentiful supply of fresh, no limit turkeys in the meat counter.

We purchased six fresh turkeys, candy and fruit for the needy families.

In this particular case, I believe, Farmer Jack's was the loser in the amount of $189.34. Farmer Jack also played the part of Scrooge.

This is the yuletide season, this is the time for giving and helping. Rules are so often times relaxed or overlooked during this time of the year.

Giving tree

EDITOR — To the many, many citizens and area residents who helped make the "Giving Tree" truly what it was set out to be — thank you. Over 200 persons responded and gave gifts to needy children.

And, may I say "Thank You" to all the groups and offer a special thanks to the Van Buren Police Department and the Van Buren Township Reserve Police Officers for their valuable aid.

Crime & courts

EDITOR — How can we, as citizens, decry crime as we do? And close our eyes when some of our judges and attorneys make such a mockery of the law?

Equal justice for all is a joke; so is the administration of justice with all the plea-bargaining and other questionable ways of ignoring their duty.

To read of that child in Kalamazoo; just twelve years old, neglected, raped and denied her rights, especially as she was impregnated by the rapist is heart-breaking.

The Kalamazoo Juvenile Court, and Judge Donald Halstead played politics with that case from the start. If Judge Halstead was the kind of man he should be, he would have disqualified himself from the case, knowing what his religious philosophy was on abortion and that his feelings would stand in the way of a fair decision.

If the Judicial Tenure Commission removes him from the bench for a year or two perhaps he will have time to decide if he can serve the people, or if he is not man enough to keep his own feelings out of it.

Reflections

Tulips on a special day

The young man sitting across from me broke open his hard roll and spread thick butter on both sides.

"I love hard rolls with lots of butter," he said as he pushed the roll into his mouth, wiping the squiggly butter oozing from his lips with his fingers, ignoring the napkin laying still unfolded by his plate.

"That's one thing you will probably have to give up," the long-haired woman sharing his seat laughed as she, too, pushed a hard roll, oozing with butter into her mouth. "Since you're going to be forty next week. Arteries, you know."

The couple were strangers to me, but I listened unabashed to their conversation. They didn't seem to notice. And as I watched and listened to them while pretending to give full concentration to my own meal, I thought of all the conversations I had heard in the past dealing with that fearsome age of forty.

I don't much remember my fortieth birthday, probably because I was so busy knitting baby booties, it passed me by without leaving a mark. No psychological mark, that is.

I do remember my fiftieth birthday, however.

I had wakened that morning to the bright sunshine streaming through the windows, and the sound of breakfast being prepared downstairs. I could smell the coffee perking over onto the hot burners, and little wisps of smoke from the burning toast seeped through the cracks of the door. Someone was singing 'Happy Birthday, dear Mama,' and before I had thrown the covers back to get out of bed, the door burst open, and my seven-year-old came streaking in, smiles all over her face followed by her big brother of ten years.

"Look what we gotcha, Mom," they shouted, and a huge bunch of red and yellow tulips were thrown onto the bed. Beautiful tulips with their roots hanging out, and dirt clinging protestingly to their uprooted ends.

Before I could tell my kids how lovely they were, I heard loud shouting coming from the back hall, and I threw my robe around me and ran down the stairs.

"It's nothing," my husband said. "Go get back in bed. We are bringing up your breakfast."

"He says it's nothing," a voice shouted. "It's nothing having your whole tulip bed pulled up by its roots by two little monsters..."

"It's my birthday," I called, hoping to placate the angry voice which I recognized as the neighbor next door.

"Birthday, Smirthday - who cares..." he shouted back.

My husband pushed me upstairs, and I ate my birthday breakfast from a tray while the uprooted tulips twinkled at me from the bedspread, and I could hear my husband's gentle voice soothing the irate neighbor.

I still hadn't thought much about birthdays as marks of growing older, even at my sixtieth. I still felt the need to rush out and meet life, and wakening in the morning with anticipation of what might happen that day. I still made plans for my future. And then one day an editor wrote me that from the sound of my letters he had never imagined I was a 'senior citizen.' How does a senior citizen sound I asked myself, and I asked my husband, but he only grunted, which, may, in a certain way be the way senior citizens sound.

And then one horrible evening as I was paying for my dinner, the cashier asked if I would like the Senior Citizen discount of 10 percent.

"For what? I shrieked. "For being over 60," she answered.

Naturally I didn't take it, and naturally my husband said I was nuts, because I was over sixty, and a little bit saved is a little bit earned, and all that stuff he had learned at his mother's knee.

For a long time I have written about being the mother of little kids, and then bigger kids. I have written of being a grandmother, with all its joys and exasperations, but not until that evening when the cashier asked me if I wanted a senior citizen discount, had I really equated being a mother of grown children and a grandmother of growing children with being a senior citizen.

I suppose there is a fine line one steps over, but somehow, I find it a bit demeaning to be rushing towards life, embracing life, and then suddenly being set apart just because one has lived for sixty years or more.

No matter the good intentions. Somehow they affront me. I see myself as being in the driver's seat, and I know I am going to have a hard time allowing myself to be put into the passenger seat. Actually, I don't think I'll get in there at all!

I look out of my window and the snow is falling, slowly and lazily and with the rare beauty that has thrilled me all of my sixty some years. So I'm going out build a snowman! Snowmen never tell!

MONA GRIGG

matter, and for that I make no promises.

I resolve to read something each day... even if it is just the directions on the back of a can or bottle.

I resolve to write something each day... even if it is just a grocery list or a telephone message.

And last but not least, I resolve to get out of bed each morning and get back into it each night.

So there are my resolutions... and in writing yet.

And here, just to prove my infallibility, are a few predictions for the coming year:

I predict that William Milliken will not win the gubernatorial election come November.

I predict that Jelly-Bellies will take a nose-dive this year. Jelly beans of all kinds will become passe — as will their perpetrator.

I predict that the trickle in the "Trickle-Down" economic system will dry up before it ever gets to me. I predict that David Stockman won't subscribe to the Atlantic Monthly during the coming year.

I predict, that the linen crisis in the White House will be resolved within the next few months. The dazzle of fine new china against worn and faded tablecloths will be more than a body can bear. Nancy will find a way.

I predict that Jerry Falwell will continue to ask for dollars and more dollars via the television tube. There will never be enough.

To start the 'New Year' right

I am a great one for making resolutions on New Year's Day.

I am also a great one for forgetting what they were on New Year's Day Plus One. I forget them because I never write them down. I don't write them down on purpose. I also don't tell anybody what they are on purpose.

I make my New Year's Resolutions in front of a mirror, where I gaze sincerely at myself in the privacy of my own bathroom and tell myself the biggest lies.

Oh, they don't start out to be lies — they just become lies in the course of a year's time.

Or they would become lies if I could remember what they were.

The only one I ever remember is the one about losing weight. I remember that one because I resolve to do it every year.

It stands to reason that if that resolution ever came true, I wouldn't have to include it in my list every year in front of the bathroom mirror.

This year I thought I would do something different. I've decided to include only resolutions I know will come true. Then I can never be disappointed if I should happen to remember at some odd moment a promise I made to myself at the beginning of the new year and didn't keep. Heaven knows, I disappoint myself enough without doing it on purpose.

So... I resolve not to smoke even one cigarette or eat even one piece of liver during the entire year.

Local governments want to create

I resolve to wear clothes every day... more on cold days, less on warm days.

I resolve to become a year older in September.

I resolve to fight the inclination to buy designer jeans, designer tops, designer wrapping paper or designer chocolates again this year.

I resolve not to buy a fur coat this year.

Ditto for a Cadillac.

I resolve to continue running out of the room whenever Davy Marlino Jones appears on my television screen.

Ditto for Sonny Elliot.

I resolve to look out of the window at least once each day in the winter. Going out of the door at least once each day in the winter is another an image that is attractive to business, so they avoid passing laws and taxes that seem to be impediments. They want to attract economic development that will, in turn, increase the tax base. What few citizens realize is that new industry also demands costly services," Collins says.

"As taxes rise, as the quality of life deteriorates, some citizens, in retrospect, conclude they would like to see growth proceed in a more logical manner." He called for a balance between development of public facilities and private industry.

The hiatus in residential and industrial growth — with its high unemployment rate and general stagnation — has few benefits. But perhaps it will afford the nation's urban dwellers a few months to reflect on ways they can collectively proceed with growth and development best suited to improve their lot.

The average traffic signal costs El Paso County (Colorado Springs), Colo., $20,000 to install. Street lights are popular in Maricopa County (Phoenix), Ariz., what with the population explosion and all. At $850 each, that's peanuts to County Engineer Robert C. Esterbrook. He's also responsible for sewers. They cost $13 to $15 a linear foot.

Nowhere is unplanned growth more apparent than in Houston, where citizens still welcome new industry despite increasing air pollution, school problems and traffic jams that signal deterioration in the quality of life though no candidates for public office were ready to promote a change in that characteristically Texan philosophy toward personal property, unplanned growth was definitely an issue during the recent election.

the end to wide use of industrial revenue bonds. Nor is the municipal bond market easily available credit for maintenance projects these days.

So added to these gargantuan costs are bills for new construction itself: One new bridge for Hennepin County (Minneapolis), Minn. will cost $1.3 million. One mile of secondary road in Mecklenburg County (Charlotte), N.C. costs $85,000, and in Ottomwa, Iowa, the same road costs $100,000. A rough estimate for a four-to-six lane highway is a million a mile.

E.J. (Jack) Huffington, superintendent of highways in Clark County (Marshall), Ill. spends $200 a year grading each mile of his county's dirt roads. When new development requires addition of blacktop, maintenance then costs him $2,900 a year per mile. The improved roads must be snowplowed too —

New Year's Resolution

*For my New Year's resolution,
I am troubled much indeed.
I ponder what I must give up
But what I've got I need.*

*I have no silly habit
Like smoking anymore,
What little money I might have
Is spent to keep me poor.*

*I wish I had a vice or two
That I could throw away,
But see myself adopting one
Lest' boredom fill my day.*

*I can't cut down on eating
For I weigh not much at all,
I just sit home and do small chores
Till friends come out to call.*

*There are a few transgressions
That are pleasurable to me
When I decide which one to drop We'll welcome '83."*

Behind the Darkest clouds

*Behind the darkest clouds,
The sky is blue.
Behind the darkest clouds,
The sun breaks through.
When your life is touched by sorrow,
When things don't go just right,
Remember there can be a brighter tomorrow.
After Misfortune's severest storm,
You can start anew.
Behind the darkest clouds,
There's a rainbow waiting for you.*

3 Romulus women are 'Wield'ing in their jobs

Women are growing in number each year in the work force and more and more hold low level management positions in business, industry, health care, education, and government.

But they still occupy only a small percentage of the executive and administrative positions and then receive a smaller compensation than a man in the same position doing the same job.

Minorities, both men and women, and the handicapped also have difficulty obtaining executive and administrative positions.

It is for these reasons and others that a program, founded by and directed by Dr. Joella Gipson-Simpson of Wayne State University, is gaining in success.

The program is called W.I.E.L.D. (Women, Minorities, and Handicapped Persons in Educational Leadership Development) which began in September, 1979 as a field-based Educational Specialist Program in the Department of Administrative and Organizational Studies, College of Education, Wayne State University.

Each participant in the program must have already obtained a master's degree.

The program is designed to help women, minorities, and the handicapped maximize their career potential, develop more fully personal and professional skills to pave the way for career upgrading and career transitions in the areas of education and health care, business, government, and industry, and to also obtain graduate credit in a systematic program of study.

Each participant is enrolled in a cycle of some 20 students for a two-year period meeting one or two evenings a week during the school year.

The program consists of 32 hours of graduate credit that leads to an educational specialist's degree.

A number of the graduates of the program have also gone on to work in doctoral programs in administration and others have received promotions and career advancements in their field or in related fields.

There are currently three educators from the Romulus Community Schools who are enrolled in the W.I.E.L.D. program. These individuals are Ellis Stewart, principal of Barth Elementary School, who is finishing the cycle leading to the educational specialist degree; Lois Avery, learning center specialist at Barth Elementary School, and Beverly Kellogg, art teacher and art chairman at Romulus Senior High School.

At the present time the classes in the cycles are held at the TenEyck Center in Dearborn and the Southfield Center, College of Lifelong Learning, Southfield.

Ellis Stewart, principal at Barth Elementary School, first brought the program to the attention of the teaching staffs in the district last January.

Two enthusiastic supporters, Avery and Kellogg joined the program last January in Romulus.

"It was just the kind of program I was looking for," said Kellogg.

Since W.I.E.L.D.'s inception in 1979, it has been enthusiastically received by its enrollees and word-of-mouth advertising and the advertising of the College of Lifelong Learning has also spread its fame.

In late October, 1981 Dr. Joella Gipson-Simpson was cited and commended by the Michigan Legislature for her work in this area.

Other interested professional and career-minded individuals can receive more information on the program by contacting the W.I.E.L.D. Program at the College of Education, Wayne State University. The three educators listed above would also be happy to answer inquiries and questions about the program.

It is not too late to jump on the professional-career train leading to maximizing one's potential. It might be just the program for someone you know.

W.I.E.L.D. means to manage, to handle with skill and effectiveness; it can be the stepping stone to reaching one's professional-career potential.

There are only so many seats on the executive and administrative coaches in the train of industry, business, education, health care, and government.

Women, minorities, and the handicapped should be wielding more of these seats in the twentieth century.

"This program might be just the answer to your goals in a changing lifestyle," says Ms. Kellogg.

Dr. Joella Gipson-Simpson is the founder and director of a program in the greater Metropolitan Area of Detroit to help and assist women, minorities and handicapped persons maximize their career potential; prepare for career transitions by developing personal and professional skills to pave the way for career upgrading in business, government, industry, education and health care; and obtain graduate university credit in a systematic program of study.

Program W.I.E.L.D. (Women, Minorities and Handicapped Persons in Educational Leadership Development) began in September of 1979 as a field-based Educational Specialist Program in the Department of Administrative and Organizational Studies, College of Education, Wayne State University.

Since the program's inception, there have been four distinct cycles of the thirty-two semester hour graduate program with a minimum of twenty people participating in each of the four cycles. Each participant in the program makes a commitment to study for two years.

Ten former participants are now enrolled in doctoral programs in administration. Participants come from the six counties surrounding Detroit as well as, Lansing.

To date 14 of the participants from the various cycles have had career advancement and promotions in their places of employment. Each participant in the program pays her/his tuition.

Participants have the opportunities to do job related research, internship in agencies, government and institutions, seminars in Washington, D.C. involving legislative and government personnel and travel-study research abroad.

Last summer 18 members from the program including one legally blind person participated in a three week travel-study program to the People's Republic of China where they meet with leaders from universities, general education, industry and the China All-Women's Federation.

What's That Sound?

By STEVE O'LEARY

Canadian joke is born

BOB & DOUG MCKENZIE
"Great White North"
(Mercury)

Is Second City the funniest show on television? Many say yes, and while I don't agree wholeheartedly with the statement (sometimes the long skits bog down), I do think that the show's "Great White North" segment is the best five minutes of TV comedy a week.

And I'm sure Bob and Doug McKenzie (Rich Moranis and Dave Thomas in real life) have had something to do with the sudden popularity of the Canadian Joke, which now surpasses even the Polish Joke as "real life comedy."

So then, like here's their first album, eh? And like you can play it and drink a cold one at the same time, eh? Unless you like, spill it all over the record player, eh? If you do, and someone like, you know, makes fun of you, what you do then is like just tell 'em to take off, ya hoser!

That's like, the way these Canadians talk, so like you've got to be careful not to play this album too much or you'll turn into a real hoser, eh? Oh well, at least you won't get held up at the border, eh?

Unlike most comedy records, this one comes complete with a "hit" single, an infectious little ditty called, appropriately enough, "Take Off," which features the guest vocals of one Geddy Lee, best known as the lead singer of heavy metal mongoloids Rush.

And while I'd even sooner listen to (ARGHH!) Ted Nugent or (ZZZZZ...) Robin Trower than be put through the agony of listening to Rush, "Take Off" is a great song that is perfect for Lee, much to my chagrin.

Also included is the McKenzie's own rendition of "Twelve Days Of Christmas." Sure they get confused when they get around the eighth day, but who can blame them? After all, they are from the Great White North.

In fact, this is my new favorite Christmas song, narrowly beating out last year's winner, Root Boy Slim's classic "X-Mas At K-Mart." C'mon, sing along!

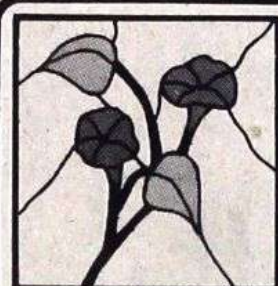

...three french toasts, two turtle necks, and a beer...

So all in all, this is one of the funniest LP's I've ever heard, bar none. And remember the fringe benefits, eh? Like you can learn Canuck, a foreign language if ever there was one. Also, if you ever do something real humiliating in public, all you have to do is say "Oh wow, like, what a hoser I am, eh? Beauty, eh?"

Then, instead of laughing at you, everyone will simply think you're a Canadian, and you do things like that all the time.

Now take off, eh?

'Taps' rates as rare film achievement

By STEVE WALZ

Special to Playtime

When George C. Scott headlined in "Patton," the result was an epic view of the man who, in divine-like fashion led the Third Army over the Nazis in Europe.

He urged his men to fight to the death because it was their duty. It was also the glorification of honor in death that spurred Patton's troops to fight until the remaining dogfaces hoisted old glory over Berlin.

In "Taps," we see a slightly different variation of the "Patton" theme. Scott portrays General Harlan Bache, the beleaguered old leader of a top-notch cadet school — Bunker Hill Academy.

Withered by various maladies, Bache likes to recount the past. He also swigs brandy with his new ranking teenaged cadet — Brian Moreland (Timothy Hutton), telling him that respect for his rank will come with duty and honor.

At commencement exercises, Moreland, though, is stung by Bache's announcement that Bunker Hill Academy will be closed to make way for condominiums.

Moreland reflexively sounds battle stations.

The spine-tingling showdown between Moreland and the outside world is perhaps one of the most important offerings in cinematic history.

Timothy Hutton's portrayal of Moreland is so convincing that you almost root for him to take on the world. That's Oscar material, folks.

Scott's performance, as usual, is solid but the real finds are Sean Penn and Tom Cruise, who play Brian's loyal friends. "Taps" is one of those rare films that should be seen and absorbed by the whole family.

Sausage hors d'oeuvres

It's the season to deck the party table with festively flavorful hors d'oeuvres. Add to the mirth and merriment suggests The National Hot Dog & Sausage Council with an appetizing snack tree using ready-to-eat processed meats.

Simply fasten parsley onto a cone-shaped styrofoam base with hairpins. Attach sausage and cheese chunks, rolled luncheon meats, cocktail franks, olives, cocktail onions and pickles to base with toothpicks.

Sausage Pesto

- 1½ pounds Italian sausage
  - 1 pint cherry tomatoes
  - ½ cup olive oil
  - 3 tablespoons chopped basil leaves
  - 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
  - 1 tablespoon chopped capers
  - 1 tablespoon vinegar
- Boil sausage until cooked through. Cut into bite-size chunks. Wash tomatoes; remove stems. In large shallow casserole, combine olive oil with basil, cheese, capers and vinegar. Add sausage and tomatoes. Cover with plastic wrap. Refrigerate for several hours or overnight to marinate. To serve, spear a tomato and a chunk of sausage on each wooden pick. Makes about 32 pieces.

Cheese Sausage Cornucopias

- 1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese or
- 1 cup American cheese, shredded or
- 1 cup blue cheese, crumbled
- 1 cup butter
- 2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 pound tiny cocktail sausages or hot dogs cut into chunks

Have cheese and butter at room temperature. In large bowl mix well together. Add flour and salt. Work together with fingers until a firm dough forms. Wrap dough in waxed paper. Chill for at least 3 hours. Roll out ¼ inch thick. Cut dough into 2-inch circles. Place each sausage at edge of a circle and wrap to form a cornucopia. Place on greased and floured baking sheet. Bake at 425°F. for about 12 minutes or until golden brown. Makes about 60 pieces.

Traditional Home Arts holiday party features Van Buren Childrens' Chorus

Members of the Belleville Home Arts Club gathered for their traditional holiday party at the festively decorated home of their president, Eula Haft of Church Street.

Fourteen were present to enjoy a variety of Christmas games planned by program chairman Mildred Baker and her committee. Prizes were awarded to Mary Kosin, Mary Nachtweih and Sharlene Tator.

The Van Buren Childrens Chorus, under the direction of Kathy Rairick, entertained the group with several popular childrens' songs complete with dancing and appropriate hand gestures. Solo and specialty numbers were also part of the program as were the seasonal Christmas carols.

Mrs. Rairick explained how the Chorus had come to be and stated that the Van Buren Community Chorus was open to all residents of Belleville and Van Buren Township.

A lunch of chicken salad, cranberry sauce, assorted crackers, and cherry and blueberry cheesecake followed, the table being covered with a green lace tablecloth and centered with sprays of frosted pine boughs and white candles. Hostesses for the evening were the executive board: Mrs. Haft, Mary Kosin, Loretta Long, Linda Long and Muriel Wolfe.

The party finale was the exchange of handmade and homemade gifts, now a club custom, which ranged from ceramics to wall plaques and crocheted articles to baked goods and candies.

The next meeting on Jan. 11 will be held at Van Buren Township Hall. Sessions begin at 7:30 p.m. and anyone interested is welcome to attend.

Travelers arrive from around the country for holidays

By Mrs. Joseph Spring 699-4021

The many friends of Mrs. Russell (Laura) Buck were sorry to hear she had sustained a fractured hip as the result of a fall in her home Sunday morning, Dec. 20. She underwent surgery at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital on Monday. Her son and wife, Dr. and Mrs. James Buck and family, arrived Monday from Baltimore, Md. for an early Christmas as the doctor has to be back to take up his duties at Johns Hopkins University on Dec. 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rose from Stoneham, Mass. have been recent guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Samuel H. Robbe of East Huron River Drive.

Mrs. Loralee Statham from Austin, Texas arrived last week Saturday to spend the holiday with her parents, the Kenneth Mericles of Denton Road.

Mrs. Juanita Akers was a luncheon guest last Monday of her grandson, Mark Berry of Seattle, Wash., at the home of his parents, the Don Berrys of Westland.

Spring Arthur, the daughter of The Rev. and Mrs. Joy Arthur, arrived home last week Saturday from Biloxi, Miss. where she is with Moore Community Center, Social Services and Needs Day Care Center. Others present for Christmas besides the Arthur's son, Steven, were Rev. Arthur's mother, Mrs. William Arthur, and his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Arthur, Lori, Kenda and Denise, from Midland.

Members of the Kenneth Palmer family who were home for a pre-Christmas dinner were Vicki Bower with daughters, Allisyn and Erica, from Memphis, Tenn.; Cynthia and John Fletcher from Edmond, Okla.; Brian Palmer and friend, Carla Wassmith from Grangeville, Idaho, and their youngest daughter, Kim.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith and children and Mrs. Henry Deering joined

potpourri

By Lee Smith Suburban Living Editor

Here 'tis, folks, "that" time of year again -- time to ponder the do-we or don't-we question of New Year's Resolutions. I don't really believe in the things since I am the world's WORST procrastinator but I DO find myself forever saying, "NEXT year..."

Well, one year ago this "potpourri" yours truly was a candidate for goofy-school because of her dilly-dallying around, putting things off and not getting her head on straight before the holiday hubbub. And she DID vow that such a state of confusion would never happen again.

Don't know for certain about that "never" bit, but I CAN tell you that Christmas '81 found me organized! And I am making that statement proudly and not caring whether you hate me or not. (Remember, I told you last year that I was much more readily accepted and loved (?) because of the frazzled state of my affairs. You manage to get sympathy and understanding when you're inept but few compliments and smiles when you're on top of it all.)

In lieu of making a personal list of do's and don'ts for the coming 365 days, I'd like instead to make one for all the "other" people involved in my everyday living. Here's what everyone "else" is going to do:

- (1) Readers of "potpourri" will allow me the pleasure of including their ideas, hints, recipes and comments and also the okay to use their names and give them credit for it all.
- (2) Those over-anxious drivers will quit pulling out of driveways in front of me (like jets) and then proceed (like Model-T's) down that curvy US-12.
- (3) BG will decide to take my threat seriously (the one to PAY to have it done) and install that much-needed exhaust fan in the kitchen. I'm not keen on re-runs of the evening's dinner in our bedroom; I'd much rather the enticing scent was my "Norell."
- (4) Repairmen (and I'm sure I won't get through a year without a few calling at our house) will show up as they promise and not leave me dangling (and postponing more interesting "dates") without at least the courtesy of a phone call.
- (5) Wrong-number callers will cease to get angry at ME when they're told they don't have the RIGHT number.
- (6) Thursdays and Fridays in the treacherous winter months will always be free of ice, snow and fog as I make my way to and from work.
- (7) My set of Royal Daisies and the little white orbs they propel will break a hundred for me on the home golf course in 1982; the greens will decide to be foolproof and readable and the sand traps will never see fit to lure my daisy-logged balls their way.
- (8) A thus-far inactive Fairy Godmother will turn up at our house and wish her magic wand over all the missing buttons, rips and pulled seams in our closets. Oh, and she might as well shorten BG's new golf slacks, too.
- (9) The digital scales will never register any shocking "high" number at us and the cosmetic industry will perform a miracle and produce a bona fide wrinkle remover (sandpaper, whatever.)
- (10) Those rattle-brained writers-of-TV-commercials will come to realize that this person (for one) is getting tired of (and will ax) all those asinine, testimonials which insult a person's intelligence. And, too, that jerk in the aspirin and Sucrets blurb will get punched out by his wife the minute he nudges her awake and says he can't sleep. This alone would make my year and save BG from my blistering comments.

Two more recipes (very much appreciated) were in the mail basket waiting for us last week and both, coincidentally, had West Coast postmarks. (We DO get around, it's nice to know.) You just might want to add them to your list of New Year's goodies.

The first was sent by a former resident of Angola Street -- Vi Vunich who now calls Walnut, Calif. "home." Her nice note included news of a recent visit in Belleville when she attended her 50th class reunion and had dinner with some of MY relatives and also her recipe for "Pig Cake" which, she says, "has a horrible name, but is really delicious, especially the butter pecan frosting."

She also requested the scalloped corn recipe I'd mentioned in the Thanksgiving "potpourri" and asked if BG and I were the ones who won "The Big Payoff" so many years ago. (Yes, Vi -- that's still one of our most exciting memories.) The corn recipe will be sent to you shortly. And thanks for the following.

PIG CAKE

- 1 pkg. Duncan Hines Butter Cake Mix
  - 4 eggs
  - ½ cup oil
  - 1 can Mandarin oranges, juice and all, cut up
  - 1 small vanilla instant pudding mix
- Put all ingredients in a bowl and mix well with a spoon. Bake for 25 minutes at 325 degrees in 3 small or 2 large greased layer cake pans or for 40-45 minutes at 325 degrees in a 9x12 pan. Let cool.

Butter Pecan Frosting

- 1 medium size cool whip
  - 1 small butter pecan instant pudding mix
  - 1 medium size crushed pineapple, well drained.
- Mix ingredients together and spread on cool cake. Must be refrigerated.

THE SECOND note and file card were from Elsie Wyman who formerly made her home on Edgedale Drive. Now residing in Encinitas, Calif., she said her recipe is one that she "wuz gonna" send before they moved but never got around to. She added, "It gives people a chance to indulge a little without feeling guilty." She also said she'd like to send us some of their sunny, 70 degree days along, too. (We'll take it!)

PECAN PIE BARS

- 1 pkg. yellow cake mix, ¾ cup reserved
  - ½ cup oleo, melted
  - 1 egg
- Combine and press into 9x13 pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. Then combine ¾ reserved cake mix, ½ cup brown sugar, packed; 1 cup dark corn syrup, 1 teaspoon vanilla and 3 eggs. Beat well. Pour over baked crust. Sprinkle 1 cup chopped pecans over and bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes until set. Cool. Cut into 36 bars.

THE BOTTOM LINE: Let's quit bad-mouthing the Post Office. We depend on it to provide excuses for us.

Wayne repeats as holiday tourney cage champ

Zebras turn back Glenn for cage crown

They say it's harder to repeat as champions than to win it the first time. If that is true, Coach Dan Vasiloff of Wayne Memorial can be very proud of his team as the Zebras knocked off John Glenn, 63-54, to capture the holiday basketball tournament for the second year in a row.

Last season Vasiloff was an assistant coach when the Zebras romped to the title and this year the determined leader is in his first season as head varsity coach.

"It is a very satisfying victory," said Vasiloff, who makes no bones about the fact he's trying to build a winning tradition at Wayne Memorial. "We've received great support and encouragement from administration and the fans and we hope they continue to come out in increasing numbers. Winning is important, but we want to build a program that everyone can be proud of and be a part of, especially the alumni," Vasiloff said.

The first-year coach was a little disappointed that more fans didn't show up for last week's thrilling two-night tournament but he was certainly pleased with the results.

The Zebras romped to a 58-44 win over Cherry Hill on the opening night of the tourney played at Wayne Memorial's scintillating new Athletic Alumni Arena to make the championship round. John Glenn, on the other hand, had to struggle all the way to take a nail-biting 45-44 overtime victory over Taylor Kennedy to reach Wednesday night's finals.

In a matchup of small, quick teams, Wayne Memorial fought off a determined John Glenn squad in the early going before assuming a 10-point lead in the third quarter and cementing the final decision at the free throw line when the Rockets had to foul to get the ball.

Coach Dan Henry's Rockets forged a 9-9 first quarter tie as both scrappy units played tough defense. Wayne Memorial, getting the ball inside to its bigger men, climbed into a 26-23 intermission advantage. Glenn, missing one of its starters due to disciplinary reasons, clung tenaciously to the cat-quick Zebras to trail 39-33 heading into the final eight minutes.

However, Wayne increased its lead to 11 points three times in the fourth quarter and cashed in 12 free throws of its 24 final period markers to maintain its victorious edge.

"Glenn surprised us by slowing down the game," said Vasiloff, who thought the Rockets would try to exploit their speed. "Our plan was to get the ball inside and we managed to do a pretty good job of doing it."

Zebra guard Sam Lentine, who comes from a long line of outstanding athletes, earned a starting spot in directing the Wayne attack during the tournament. "The point guard we were using was not able to handle the pressure and I gave Sam a shot at the job and he came through admirably," Vasiloff explained.

Lentine passed off to 6-2 forward Jim Nibert for 17 points against Glenn and 16 markers the night before against Cherry Hill. Vince Patterson a 6-3 senior forward, chipped in 12 points, including 6 of 8 from the charity stripe, to join Nibert in double figures.

Junior Jack Walker, a 6-5 center, and Todd Stein, a 6-1 sophomore forward, led Glenn's attack with 14 points each and sophomore guard Jeff Hawley pumped in five field goals from outside for 10 points.

"It was another team effort on the part of our players," said Vasiloff, who is happy with the way his Zebras are beginning to jell. It was the third consecutive victory for Wayne, who started out the season with a trio of losses. "Seven of our nine players scored and I was pleased with that," he said.

"If Glenn played man-to-man, we felt we had the speed and quickness to beat them. I thought the turning point of the game came in the second half when I put in Dave Solarz and he put pressure on the ball and caused several turnovers.

Vasiloff also cited the outstanding foul line performances of Gary Billings and Patterson in Wayne's triumph. Billings, a scrappy 6-footer, canned 6-of-7 from the line in the last quarter to maintain Wayne's lead, while Patterson connected on 6-of-8.

"I thought Glenn took some bad shots when they got behind and we got the rebounds. I think we're starting to get it together now. We made a lot of mistakes early in the year, including 18 turnovers against Fordson in the last quarter alone," Vasiloff noted. "We're a young team, which includes seven juniors, plus Steve Coleman, our biggest man at 6-4, has had an ankle injury and is just coming back."

Glenn Coach Dan Henry cited Wayne's inside game as the deciding factor. "Their inside game beat us. Their big men got the ball and scored well. We didn't front Nibert and Patterson and it cost us dearly. However, I'm happy with the way our kids hustled and gave their all. We have a few adjustments to make and I think we'll settle down and begin to play well as a team," Henry said.

After being tied 9-9 after one period, Wayne led 18-15 with 2:59 left in the first half. Two baskets and a pair of charity tosses by Shaun Boyer sandwiched a Jim Nibert lay-up to round out the Zebra's first half scoring, while Walker, Stein and 5-6 guard Bo Whitner hit layups and guard Jeff Hawley hit two 15-foot jumpers in the last 50 seconds to leave Wayne ahead, 26-23, at halftime.

Two steals and baskets by Lentine and Solarz in the final minute of the third stanza made it 39-31 for the Zebras before a last-second 15-foot jumper by Rocket guard Troy Lindon at the buzzer cut it to 39-33 entering the homestretch.

Sophomore Stein, who is playing better each game, used his 6-1 height to great advantage, snapping off a rebound and dropping in a basket from underneath to cut Wayne's lead to 39-35 with 7:50 left in the game and plenty of time remaining. However, senior guard Bo Whitner, who guides Glenn's attack, fouled out at the 7:28 mark and things went downhill for the Rockets the rest of the way.

Jim Nibert, following in the steps of his older brother John, took a nifty pass from Boyer to score a lay-up and then scored again 18 seconds later to increase Wayne's lead to 45-35.

Tony Bass, a 6-1 junior, drove for a bucket and was fouled for a 3-point play to make it 48-37 before Rocket Bob Hawley rebounded a missed shot and put it back in a 5:45. Patterson's hoop made it 50-39 before Stein stole the ball and cashed a lay-in at 5:08 for a 50-41 score.

Wayne scored again and Bob Hawley tossed in a 12-footer to make it 52-43 as Glenn tried desperately to steal the ball after each score. With 3:50 remaining and the Zebras leading 52-43, Wayne didn't score another field goal, but 11 points from the foul stripe maintained their comfortable margin until the buzzer.

Solarz canned the first of a 1-and-1 to make it 53-43 and missed the second. But a Glenn player was in the lane too soon and Solarz made good on the extra shot for a 54-43 lead as the Rockets called time-out with 3:46 showing on the clock.

Lindon canned both ends of a bonus opportunity for Glenn, but Billings matched them to make it 56-45 just before the Rockets launched their final effort. Stein cashed both ends of a 1-and-1 and Greg Gill, a hustling 5-6 junior guard stole the ball at mid-court and raced in for a layup to close the gap to 56-49 with 2:37 left and hope still burned in the hearts of Glenn's faithful fans.

When Nibert missed a free throw, Glenn had the opportunity to make it a 5-point difference, but the Rockets threw the ball away and with it the opportunity to win the game. Rocket Bob Hawley fouled out with 1:50 left and his brother Jeff followed him to the sidelines less than a minute later as the referee whistled his fifth infraction.

Four free throws by Billings and one each by Lentine, Patterson and Boyer closed out Wayne's scoreboard production, while Gill's charity and field goals by Lindon and Stein closed the book on Glenn's scoring.

In the Cherry Hill opener, Wayne raced to a 14-6 first quarter margin and a 33-18 intermission frolic. Just when it looked like the Zebras would "dance" into the finals, Cherry Hill outscored the hosts, 15-9, in the third stanza to make it a 42-33 ballgame. However, the Zebras ended the Spartans' comeback dreams with a 16-11 advantage in the fourth quarter for the 58-44 win.

Forward Jim Nibert rammed home 16 points for the only Zebra in double figures but Tony Bass chipped in eight and Shaun Boyer added seven. Sam Len-

Spartans take Plymouth title

Stevenson slays giant-killer

Canton cage coach Dave Van Wagoner had his biggest thrill and greatest disappointment as a varsity coach in the 1981 Christmas Classic held at Plymouth Salem High School last week.

The first-year mentor saw his fired-up Chiefs upset tourney favorite Salem, 50-47, in the thrilling opener of the Holiday tournament for Canton's first win of the season. Then, Van Wagoner's Chiefs turned up flat the next night in being blown out by Livonia Stevenson, 61-38, in the championship game.

George Van Wagoner, the second winningest prep coach in the state behind River Rouge's Lofton Greene, guided his Spartans to a 59-51 win over Livonia Churchill to make the finals.

Salem, after being rocked by the Chiefs in a big upset the first night, came back strong to defeat Churchill, 58-40, in the consolation game.

George is uncle to Canton's Dave Van Wagoner and the veteran had the nephew yelling "uncle" as Stevenson roared to a 13-2 first quarter lead and led 31-7 at intermission. Canton settled down in the second half and outscored the Spartans 31-30 but the issue had long been settled.

"Their defense was superb and we were not mentally or physically prepared for the game," said the Canton coach. "They pressured us with their man-to-man three-quarter court press and we made a lot of turnovers and just couldn't get untracked. Stevenson is the finest team we've played this season, with the finest coach."

Stevenson ran its unbeaten record to 6-0 with sharp defense, pin-point passing and good outside shooting. George Van Wagoner, who has notched more than 400 high school victories in a long and illustrious career, was kind in his comments after giving his nephew another cage lesson.

"In a sense Canton played their game the night before in beating Plymouth Salem. They may have been tired from the extreme emotion of that contest. But our kids played good defense and that is the name of the game," Stevenson's coach explained.

It was the second time in two weeks that Uncle George had given nephew Dave some cage pointers. Stevenson beat Canton, 52-46, when the two teams met in early December at Stevenson.

Because that first game was close most of the way, Canton was expected to give Stevenson a real test. Especially after upsetting favorite Salem, whose record was 4-0 at the time.

However, Canton reached the heights of glory against the Rocks, only to come tumbling down to earth against a strong Spartan squad. Gary Mexicotte and John Fazica led a balanced Spartan attack with 10 points apiece. Canton's two big guns against Salem the night before — Steve Tuttle with 20 points and Matt Thomas with 15 — were shut down with five points each by Stevenson's aggressive defense.

"We got beat by a real fine team," Dave Van Wagoner said. "Some came off the bench for us and played real well — at least there were some bright spots in the game."

Stevenson's coach praised his entire squad for their unselfishness. With Greg Berkey tossing in eight points and Pat Martin and Pete Rose six each, the Spartans served up a well-balanced attack. "We don't have any top scorer," George Van Wagoner said, "we have good spirit and teamwork and everybody works together."

Stevenson had a much tougher time against crosstown rival Churchill in the tourney opener. Coach Don Albertson's Chargers jumped to an 11-8 first quarter margin but Stevenson got rolling in the second period for a 23-22 intermission (Continued on Page B-5)

Block away

Although he appears to have this shot canned, Romulus' Bobby Stewart (22) soon discovers that a Saginaw defender's hand can slap the basket away to the sidelines. And that's what happened. Stewart wasted an excellent scoring evening as the Eagles fell to the visitors, ending a 4-game winning streak. The Eagles were to resume competition last night at the Rouge Tournament.

Fired-up Canton Chiefs upset tourney-favorite Salem Rocks

It doesn't take long to go from "Hero" to "Zero."

Just ask first-year Coach Dave Van Wagoner and his Canton Chiefs.

The red-shirted injuns scalped Plymouth Salem, 50-47, in a stunning upset on the opening night of the 1981 Christmas Cage Classic. They could do no wrong. They were everywhere, rebounding, passing, scoring and playing exceptional defense to shock Coach Fred Thomann's Rocks.

They were heroes. But only for a day.

The Chiefs came down to earth with a bang the following night as Livonia Stevenson shredded Canton's defense and throttled its offense in rolling up an astonishing 31-7 halftime lead. Although both teams played evenly in the second half, the issue was settled after two periods.

But make no mistake about it, give Canton credit for shocking Thomann's troops.

"We knew we were going to win when we first stepped into the gym," Van Wagoner told a group of reporters after the game. "It was snowing hard outside (six inches fell) and I just had a feeling we were going to repeat what happened two years ago," Van Wagoner, who was an assistant coach to Craig Bell at that time, was referring to the stunning 13-point defeat Canton dealt favored Plymouth Salem in the districts of the state high school basketball playoffs.

Last week, Canton jumped all over the Rocks for a 12-2 lead in the first five minutes of the game. The Chiefs enlarged their 14-7 first quarter edge to 29-18 at halftime. But Salem, slowly and surely began to carve into the big lead. The Rocks held Canton to just five third quarter points in cutting their deficit to 34-29 after three periods.

Now it was a ballgame and went right down to the final buzzer before the Chiefs had their coveted win.

Although it was a team victory in every sense of the word, Canton's main heroes were 6-5 Steve Tuttle, who scored 20 points and grabbed 13 rebounds, and 6-3 Matt Thomas, who chipped in 15 points and hustled all over the court for the full 32 minutes.

Salem was led by senior Mike McBride with 13 points and junior John Cohen added 10 markers and several key rebounds to keep the Rocks in the contest all the way. The Rocks even managed to take a 44-42 on McBride's 10-foot jumper with 2:40 left in the game but Canton came right back to score and took the play away from its arch-rival.

It was Tuttle's stellar play, grabbing two key rebounds and scoring a pair of vital baskets in the final 1:26 that iced the win for Canton.

"We thought we would surprise Salem with a man-to-man defense instead of going with our usual zone," Van Wagoner said after the exciting win. "I don't know if the change threw Salem off or not, but they were not able to get into the glow of their game. We spread out the floor offensively to neutralize their big men inside and take advantage of our quickness."

"We put strong defensive pressure on the ball at halfcourt and our seniors did a great job the entire game at both ends of the court," Van Wagoner said.

Salem Coach Fred Thomann, who always appreciates a job well done, gave Canton a lot of credit for the victory. "They were well prepared and executed real well. They deserved to win. When we finally did take the lead in the last quarter, they came right back and scored on their next possession. Early in the game we had a ton of shots that we didn't make and that made a big difference, of course."

Thomann said Canton's man-to-man defense did not catch them unprepared. "In fact, my assistant and I agreed that Canton would do well to use a man-to-man defense and we worked against it all week. However, they out-played us and it was a well-deserved victory for them."

Canton started with an explosion, running up its 12-2 margin with 2:26 left in the first period. The Chiefs three times had 12-point leads in the second quarter at 25-13, 27-15 and 29-17. Canton held a 29-18 advantage at intermission.

After going over strategy at halftime,

Thomann saw his squad come methodically back in the second half to erase the Chiefs' large lead and make a real nail-biting finish.

Salem's defense shut down Tuttle and Thomas — Canton's "T-and-T" — in the third quarter in racing to a 14-5 advantage to pull within 34-29. Here's how it happened:

Sophomore Rick Berberet fired in a one-hander to make it 29-20 but Tuttle's 10-footer from the left side increased the margin to 31-20 before Norm Haygood tipped up two shots and the last one dropped through the net for a 31-22 count. Tuttle's two free throws increased it to 33-22 before John Cohen's top of the key jumper cut it to 33-24 with 5:24 left in the third quarter.

Haygood picked up his fourth foul at 4:13 and Tuttle sank one freebie to make it 34-24. Salem's Cohen took a smooth pass from Dave Houle to put in a lay-up from the left side and made the foul shot for a 3-point play to cut Canton's lead to 34-27. Cohen missed two free throws but (Continued on page B-6)

Improving Canton loses close game to Harrison

Canton dropped its fourth consecutive game and is winless so far this season but first-year coach Dave Van Wagoner is still pleased with the Chiefs' potential.

That potential clearly showed itself Friday night when the Chiefs battled tough Farmington Harrison all the way before bowing 62-54 in Western Six League action. "We showed a lot of improvement," Van Wagoner said. "Offensively, we were 100 percent better than against Thurston three nights earlier. We have a very tough early season schedule but if we hang in there, I believe it could work to our advantage later on."

Both teams employed a full-court press and host Harrison clung to a 10-9 first period margin before outscoring Canton 15-10 in the second quarter for a 25-19 intermission advantage. The Hawks widened their lead to 45-36 after three quarters before Canton won its only quarter, 18-17 in the final stanza, for the final score.

"We let it get away from us in the second half," Van Wagoner said. "The kids gave a real good effort the entire game and that's very encouraging."

One of the bright spots of the game for Canton was Tim McFarland, a 5-9 junior guard, who fired in six long baskets and 4-of-4 free throws for 16 points. "Tim won himself a starting job for his fine performance," Van Wagoner said. It was McFarland's first start and he made it a good one. Ron Rienas and Matt Thomas each added 10 points for Canton.

Harrison was led by 6-5 All-League center Steve Hollatz, who tossed in 15 points, 13 under his average so far this season. Mike Turnquist and Gus Kehagias, a pair of scrappy guards pumped in 10 apiece for Harrison, which ran its record to 5-1.

After the holiday break, Canton returns to regular season action by hosting Farmington on Jan. 5 and Walled Lake Western on Jan. 8.

Recently Canton had trouble finding the basket against a tough 2-3 zone defense by Redford Thurston. The Chiefs trailed the entire game, as the Eagles romped to a 59-35 win. "Thurston is a very good team. I was impressed with the way they play as a team and Tim Fredericks is one of the best players around," Van Wagoner said.

Thurston dominated each quarter, carving out margins of 12-6, 15-10, 13-8 and 19-11 in the non-league victory.

Thurston fought off determined Westland John Glenn to win its fifth straight without a loss at Glenn, 54-44.

Steve Tuttle was the only Chief in double figures against Thurston with 12 points.

Problem-plagued Spartans find cage wins elusive

What a difference a year makes. Last season was a "piece of cake" for Cherry Hill cage Coach Dave Bogataj whose Spartans rolled to a 14-0 Tri-River League record on their way to an outstanding season.

This year, injuries, disciplinary problems and inexperience have severely hampered Cherry Hill's efforts on the hardwood court. But Bogataj maintains confidence that things will turn around pretty soon.

Cherry Hill's latest disappointment was a 39-38 loss to Taylor Kennedy in the consolation game of the Holiday Classic at Wayne Memorial's Athletic Alumni Arena last week. Almost beating the Eagles with two of his starters missing did not make the defeat any easier to take.

"We've had a little disciplinary problem, but I think everything will work out the way it should," said Bogataj. "We were missing two starters against Kennedy and I was proud of the way the players hustled on the court. Also, we were without the services of one of our tallest players, 6-2 Ken Weatherby, who has been out with an injured ankle. I think when we get things back in shape we'll be okay."

Cherry Hill was "okay" for three periods against Coach Mike Baum's Eagles before losing the game in the final 10 seconds. The Spartans carved out a 13-10 first quarter lead and entered the locker room with a 24-21 advantage. A low-scoring third period saw the Spartans manage a 6-4 margin in the snail-paced game that saw Kennedy employ its usual slow-down tactics.

Cherry Hill's 30-25 edge evaporated in the final quarter when Kennedy quickened the pace to score 14 points while the Spartans only managed eight. Still, Cherry Hill led 38-37 with 15 seconds left and had the ball. However, a turnover gave the ball to the Eagles and their team leader, Captain Dan Reitmeyer swished a 15-foot jumper with 10 seconds left to win the game.

Cherry Hill's Tom Pietruszka, who made the All-Tournament team, scored 11 to pace the Spartans, while Andy LaPensee notched eight and Art Hartman added six.

Kennedy nicked

Glenn gets sweet tourney revenge

Coach Dan Henry of John Glenn means what he says. He's not given to excess words and always tells it like it is. That's why his vow to beat Taylor Kennedy the second time around carried a lot of weight.

As you may recall, the Eagles defeated Glenn three weeks ago, 52-49, in overtime in the Kennedy gym. Henry said after the disappointing loss that "we will beat Kennedy when we play them again."

Henry was true to his word as the Rockets knocked off Kennedy, 45-44, in overtime in the opening game of the Holiday Classic at Wayne Memorial's Athletic Alumni Arena.

"Taylor Kennedy played their usual slow-paced game," Henry explained. "We were determined to be patient and maintained our poise as we played tough, good defense and worked the ball for the good shot."

Glenn started fast, cruising to a 15-11 first quarter margin and increasing it to 27-22 at intermission. However, Kennedy's patient, ball-control offense slowed the Rockets' scoring to a crawl in the second half. Glenn managed just 10 points in the third quarter and five in the final stanza as the Eagles flew into a tie at the end of regulation with 12 markers in the third period and eight in the finale.

The holiday contest, like the first meeting, ended in a 42-42 deadlock at the end of regulation play. However, the outcome was different in overtime this time.

But it took some late heroics by sophomore Jeff Hawley to pull out the win. Glenn trailed 44-43 with just two seconds left in the 3-minute extra session when Hawley was fouled in the act of shooting.

The young 10th grader stepped to the free throw line and sank both pressure-packed shots to extract the hard-fought victory. Jeff, who is an excellent outside shooting guard, canned 5-of-7 charity tosses in the game. He was joined by fellow sophomore forward Todd Stein, who played with Hawley on Stevenson Junior High's cage team last season, and junior 6-5 center Jack Walker, as Glenn HHeroes. Stein, a 6-1 forward, and Walker notched 14 points each to pace the Rockets, while Dale Riddell led Kennedy's turtle-like offense with 12 markers.

"I told you we'd beat Kennedy the second time around," Henry told a sports reporter. "The players made up their minds that they had played poorly in losing the first time to Kennedy and weren't going to let it happen again."

The Rockets, who have played several close games, now have a record of 2-4 overall and 1-1 in the Northwest Suburban League. Glenn returns to action at Cherry Hill on Jan. 5 in a non-league contest and then faces a tough conference test at North Farmington on Jan. 8.

Kennedy's winning effort was geared by 6-2 forward Tim Williams, who had six field goals and five free throws for 17 points, and Reitmeyer finished with nine.

"We have a lot of juniors who have not played very much," Bogataj explained. "I see improvement in just about every game but we're young and inexperienced — nine of our 14 players are juniors."

"The thing that impresses me is the kids' desire to improve and learn the game. We have some fine young men on the team and I believe our hard work will pay off in the long run."

"We've had a few disciplinary problems that we've had to deal with, but every team faces those situations and everyone must learn that you must have rules that apply to everyone or you never will build the type of program you want to," Bogataj explained.

The young coach (who has aged considerably this season) keeps the game in proper perspective. After losing the last-minute heart-breaker to Kennedy on Dec. 23, Bogataj said, "The good Lord has given us health and a lot of things to be thankful for. We'll enjoy Christmas and then get back to working hard for the regular season."

Cherry Hill returns to regular season action on Jan. 5 when it hosts John Glenn and then travels to Southgate for a Tri-River League clash on Jan. 8.

Near perfect season

The Westland Hornets under 16 girls soccer team finished the season winning the Western Suburban Soccer League Championship ending the season with a 7-0-1 record, again leading the league in total offense and defense for the second season. The girls claimed the championship by winning their seventh game of the season, defeating second place Northville Charlies Angels by the score of 1-0. Westland's only goal was scored by Michele Ruffino and the assist went to Beverly Keith. Westland goalie Michele McCullen again played a perfect game giving her four shutouts for the season. The team is made up of (top row, from left) Jennifer Mullins, Kirsten Mueller, Michele Ruffino, Michele McCullen, Julie Hysko, Darcey Champagne, Julie Bettiga, Coach Bob Hysko; Bottom Row; Beverly Keith, Michelle Sanchez, Shiny Mapleton, Kelli Pahl, Sherra Christian, Belendia Speights, Wendy Wagner. advantage. The Spartans, behind 12 points by Pete Rose and 11 each by Greg Berkey and Bob Palmisano, increased their lead to 43-37 after three quarters.

Churchill's 6-foot-8 Tom Gomolak dropped in seven baskets and 4-of-6 free throws for 18 points to keep his Chargers in contention. Steve Tracy's five field goals put him in double figures with 10 markers, and 6-6 forward John Merner notched eight points.

However, they were no match for the teamwork of Stevenson, which built up a 14 point lead in the last quarter before a Churchill surge brought the final difference to eight points.

Stevenson's Greg Berkey was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player, while Salem's Dave Miller, Canton's Steve Tuttle and Matt Thomas, Stevenson's Gary Mexicotte and Churchill's John Merner were named to the All-Tournament team.

Wayne also wins Jayvee cage crown

By ERIC GEARNS
Special Writer

Wayne Memorial High School basketball fans have a great future to look forward to next year, that was evidenced by the impressive performance of the Zebra jayvee squad in winning the Wayne Holiday tournament last week.

The Zebras accomplished the task with a narrow come from behind 41-40 victory over Cherry Hill and a surprisingly easy 59-46 triumph over arch-rival Westland John Glenn.

The Zebras were led in both performances by the outstanding play of point guard Kevin Daily who mounted a two game total of 19 points, but more importantly had a tourney high total of 19 assists and eight steals.

It was Daily's floor leadership which enabled the Zebras to overcome a 34-31 third quarter deficit and bring Wayne their 41-40 victory in game one of the tourney.

Daily and Keith Strickland hit clutch free throws in the final minute of play to escape the upset at the hands of a very good Spartan team.

Meanwhile in the other first round game John Glenn took a 50-20 lead into the fourth quarter and then apparently lost their composure as Taylor Kennedy ran off a string of 24 unanswered points in the fourth quarter, but the Rockets managed to regroup and take the decision 63-50 after a scary fourth quarter.

In the final stanza Taylor Kennedy outscored the Rockets 30-13.

Jim Jazsis led the Rockets in the game with 12 points, while Rick Walczybori led all scorers for Kennedy with 16 points including 10 in the final period.

In the consolation game, Cherry Hill put three players in doubled figures and easily disposed of Taylor Kennedy 58-42. The Spartans were led by Mark Merri-man with 16 points, Gerald Ivey had 14 and a two day total of 25, and Delbert Smith chipped in 12 in the finale for a two day total of 28 to lead the tournament in scoring.

The championship matchup between John Glenn and host Wayne Memorial, saw the Zebras jump out to an early 16-7 first quarter advantage and totally dominate the smaller Rockets throughout the contest.

Keith Strickland tossed in six first quarter points while running mate Tony Strickland sank a like number.

The second quarter was the Kevin Daily to Dave Hargrove show with Hargrove gunning in 10 points most of them on long passes from Daily on the fast break. The duo was responsible for the Zebras taking very healthy 33-17 lead in at halftime.

Led by the shooting of Dave Long, the Rockets played a much stronger second half, but could still manage to only cut the deficit to 44-30 at the end of three periods. John Glenn managed to shave one more point of the margin in the final period, but Wayne was never in serious jeopardy and seemed to be in control the entire way.

Hargrove led all scorers with 20 points, while Daily added 14, Keith Strickland had 12 and Mike Quartuccio added eight, with Tony Strickland throwing in seven. Long led the scoring for the Rockets with a 13 point performance.

Wayne first year mentor Gary Niemczak was extremely happy with the teams performance, which lifts their record to 3-3. "We got outstanding performances from Kevin Daily, who has been our floor leader all year and really settles us down and runs the ball club."

"Mike Quartuccio has been doing a super job on the boards all season and Keith Strickland is the guy we go to when we need a bucket," Niemczak continued. "I think the kids have really improved over this tournament and the Glenn game was our best performance of the year. I look forward to this helping us through the rest of the season," said the coach.

Wayne Zebras take holiday tourney championship

Lentine, starting his first varsity game, played an excellent floor game, guided the Zebra attack and earned himself a starting job by his fine play.

Tom Pietruszka, Cherry Hill's 6-foot senior, drilled in 12 points for the only Spartan in double digits. The Spartans were playing without two of their starters because of disciplinary reasons, plus 6-2 junior forward Ken Weatherby was sidelined with an injured ankle.

"We took Cherry Hill out of their offense," said Wayne Coach Dan Vasiloff. "Our tenacious defense forced a lot of turnovers. On offense, we were patient and worked the ball inside to Nibert, who scored 16 points. Junior Sam Lentine started his first game at point guard and did an extremely fine job under a grabbed the rebound from his second miss and dropped it home to make it 34-29 with 0:51 left in the third quarter.

Canton's Ron Rienas, who hustled all throughout the game, grabbed two rebounds against taller players to drop home a shot for a 36-29 Canton edge.

Houle, McBride and Kelliher scored on drives to the hoop and Thomas responded for Canton to keep the Chiefs up by 38-35 with 6:10 left in the game. Rienas sank both ends of a 1-and-1 but Salem's Dave Miller hit a 10-foot jumper, was fouled and completed the 3-point play to cut Canton's margin to just 40-38 with 4:53 remaining.

Dave Miller drove the baseline from the right side to drop in a lay-in to tie the score at 40-all as the crowd went wild with 4:11 left.

Canton's Tuttle, who played the finest game of his career, fired a 15-footer through the hoop but then fouled Miller, who sank both ends to tie it again at 42-all with 3:33 left. Salem's defense came on strong at this point, blocking two Canton shots before McBride hit a 10-foot jumper to give Salem a 44-42 lead, the first time the Rocks led in the game.

Canton called time-out and then Ron Rienas swished a 10-footer from the front to knot the count again at 44-all. Tuttle grabbed an offensive rebound and put it back up and in to give Canton a 46-44 margin with 1:25 left while Canton fans roared their approval.

Salem called a time-out with 1:06 left. Cohen faked a shot underneath, was fouled on the double-pump and made the first of two to cut Canton's lead to 46-45 but Thomas grabbed the defensive rebound for the Chiefs with 28 seconds remaining. Canton guard Tom Harris, who had taken only one shot all night and made it, was fouled and Salem called time-out.

Harris calmly swished both charities to make it 48-45 and when Tuttle rebounded, a missed Salem shot, he was fouled. The ever-present Tuttle settled the issue with 12 seconds left when he grabbed an offensive rebound and tossed in a 10-foot jumper to make it 50-45. Mike McBride scurried down the court and dropped in a baseline lay-in to make it 50-47 with just five ticks left on the clock.

Canton called time-out with five seconds remaining, holding a 3-point lead and taking the ball out of bounds. The Chiefs fumbled the throw-in pass from out of bounds and Salem got the ball back but couldn't score as the buzzer sounded to end the wild contest.

In Salem's contest with Churchill, the Rocks were back in form as they rolled to a 15-9 first period edge and led 29-14 at halftime.

Thomann's troops increased their lead to 42-25 after three periods and coasted home to the 58-40 final. Junior Dave Houle tossed in 13 points and McBride added 12 to lead the Rocks, while Marvin Zurek and Scott Bublin each had eight.

Churchill's limited offense was led by 6-foot-8 Tom Gomolak's 12 and 6-foot-6 forward John Merner's 13.

The results of the holiday action left Salem with a 5-1 overall record and the Rocks return to regular season action Jan. 5 with a tough assignment at Ypsilanti against the powerful Braves.

Canton, now 1-5, will host Farmington on Jan. 5 in a non-league game.

Yes, I had one too many, but I sold the extra one through the quick-action Want Ads.

Brandy and Snifter were both great St. Bernards, but two is too many. Found Brandy a great home in a mountain winery. Those Want Ads are read everywhere.

If you have one too many of any useful item, a Want Ad can find it a new home and fill your wallet with some of that government lettuce.

Clean out those storage areas, it's a good New Year's Resolution, and those still valuable items like toys, bikes, appliances, sewing machines, typewriters, musical instruments, and the like, will be welcomed by someone.

I'LL DRINK TO THAT.
